HALIFAX, Sunday, March 27.

The R. M. steamship Niagara, Capt. MILLAR, from Liverpool at 2 P. M. of the 12th, arrived at Halifax at 1 P. M. of Sunday, the 27th.

The Niagara experienced strong westerly gales during the first eight days of her passage, and was detained off Halifax harbor 41 hours by fog.

She reports, 13th inst., passed ship Emily A. Hale, 25 miles northeast of Tuscar, bound out, at 4 P. M.; same day passed steamship Africa, from New-York.

The Cunard screw-steamer Alps, bound for Halifax and New-York, left Liverpool at about the same time as the Niagara, and entered Halifax harbor with her.

The screw steamship Indian, from Portland, arrived at Liverpool at 2 A. M. of the 10th.

The Cunard screw steamship Lebanon, from New-York, arrived at Liverpool at noon of the 11th.

The screw steamship Edinburgh, from New-York, arrived at Glasgow on the 12th.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In the House of Commons on the 9th the Government bill partially abolishing the church rates, by means of voluntary commutation, was debated and finally rejected by 254 to 171.

On the 10th, in the House of Lords, the subject of the future government of Singapore was debated.

Ministers announced that they would be guided by the answer to the dispatch they had recently addressed to the Governor-General of India.

In the Commons, sundry notices of amendments to the Government Reform bill were announced, including one by Lord JOHN RUSSELL, to the following effect: "That it is neither just nor politic to interfere in the manner proposed by the bill with the freehold franchise in England and Wales, and that no adjustment of the franchise will satisfy the House or the country which does not provide for a greater extension of the right of suffrage in cities or boroughs than is provided for in the bill."

Mr. WILDE said that he should move an addition to this amendment, to the effect that votes be taken by ballot.

Mr. DISRAELI said the Government was preparing certain modifications to its bill.

Lord BURY called attention to the Newfoundland fisheries, and moved for the papers showing the construction placed by the French authorities upon the treaties now regulating them, and the present state of the negotiations.

Sir E. B. LYTTON said he could not enter into the subject, because it involved some little danger, although he hoped it was susceptible of am cable arrangement. The French Government had intimated the intention of enforcing its full rights under the treaties, and Her Majesty's Government had given counter notice that it also intended to enforce its full rights, while at the same time it proposed the appointment of Commissioners to inquire into the rights o the two countries. That proposal had been accepted, and he had no fear that any collision would occur during the inquiry among the fishing vessels, as steps had been taken on both sides to prevent it. He hoped Lord BURY would consent to wait for the Commissioners' report.

Lord BURY withdrew his motion.

On the 11th the subject of piracy at Hong Kong and the conduct of the Government officials in the matter was mooted in both Houses, and Ministers promised investigations.

Lord MALMESBURY said the Congress of Paris would probably meet on the following week on the question of the Principalities.

The estimates were debated, and the Indian Loan bill passed through Committee in the Commons.

The Neapolitan exiles, who landed at Cork, had formally presented an address to the Mayor of Cork, explanatory of their action. They say that while on board the Neapolitan frigate they protested in vain against being taken to America, and appealed against being landed in Spain or transferred to the David Stewart against their will. They drew up a declaration invoking the protection of the United States laws, praying the Captain to steer for the nearest English port, and threatened, if he persisted in going to New-York, that they would accuse him before the law courts for the violation of their liberty; but that in the meantime they should respect the laws of the ship. On presenting this to the Captain, he at first said he had pledged his word to take them to America, and could not act against his interests. On the following day, however, the Captain reconsidered his determination, and announced his intention of steering for Cork. The exiles claim that they respected the laws of the ship and those of courtesy to her commander. They then explain that their shattered health and the desire to be as near their native land as possible, were their reasons for not going to such a fine, free, and civilized country as America, and conclude by asking a generous hospitality from Great Britain.

The exiles were meeting with a warm welcome, and their wants were liberally provided for.

The Times recommends a public subscription in their favor, and says that in the whole history of continental turmoils since 1815 there is not an instance to be found of men who have suffered such grievous wrongs with hands so entirely clean.

Reform meetings, mostly in opposition to the Ministerial measures, were being held in all parts of England. The success or defeat of the Government was expected to turn on Sir JOHN RUSSELL'S proposed amendment.

In the event of a defeat a dissolution of Parliament was talked of.

It was reported that Lord CLYDE would not return from India at present.

Five of the prisoners recently arrested in Ireland for connection with the Phœnix Club were being tried for treason at Tralee. The Attorney-General, in opening the case, charged them with conspiring with other persons to subvert the constitution of the country and establish in Ireland a Free Democratic Republic. He showed that the conspiracy was extensive and dangerous, and that aid in money and men was expected from France as well as America. The trial was progressing quietly. The result of it was not known when the steamer sailed.

The London Times, in the City Article, again refers to the defaulting of States in the American Union, and gives a resumé of their respective positions, to prevent, as it says, the public being deluded by the constant flourishes of their Governors.

The Times, in an editorial on Mr. BUCHANAN'S Messages to Congress, asking power to employ the Army and Navy for the protection of American rights on the Isthmus and in Mexico, thinks the President has good grounds for his expostulations, and indorses his arguments, but points them against Democratic institutions.

The same journal, in its City Article, questions the expediency of the promised subsidy to the Galway line, and hints that the Government's desire for Irish votes may have had something to do with it. It argues that the Government is departing from the principle which requires no contracts to be made, except such as have been invited by public tender, and that in subsidising this line they act unfairly to old lines having no subsidy.

Mr. and Mrs. DALLAS were present at the dinner party given by the Queen.

The Hon. FREDERICK BRUCE had started for China to assume the office of Ambassador. Lord ELGIN was expected to remain till his arrival.

The funds on the 9th were weaker, on the 10th firmer and ⅛@⅛ higher, and on the 11th again weak, but firm at the close.

LATEST.

LONDON, Saturday, March 12.

The Daily News' City Article says, that the decline on Friday was caused by the depression in Paris. The fall in Consols during the day was equal to ⅛ cent. The Share Market was correspondingly depressed. In the Discount Market the demand is increasing, while the supply of money, owing partly to a large accumulation of Government deposit in the Bank, has diminished the lowest rate for choice bills to 2¼@2⅜ ⅌ cent. Exchange on Austria has again risen 2 to 3 ⅌ cent., owing to renewed distrust.

The Times' City Article says the continued chance on the results of Lord COWLEY'S mission supported the market until the downward movement in Paris was telegraphed, when a slight decline took place. There was an increased demand in the Discount Market and at the Bank to-day.

The Earl of SHAFTESBURY writes to the Times, urging some national expression in honor of the heroic exiles landed at Queenstown.

FRANCE.

The recent pacific article in the Moniteur, and its effect, continued to attract attention.

The Nord distinctly asserts, that as negotiations are pending, NAPOLEON consented to the insertion of the article in the Moniteur to show his moderation; but that if the present difficulties are not diplomatically solved, if Austria does not yield, he will not shrink from the consequences.

The Daily News says the acceptance of Prince NAPOLEON'S resignation is dictated by temporary considerations, and will not be followed by any material change in the ultimate aims of the external policy of the French Government.

The Duke DE MALAKOFF was on a visit to Paris.

The Globe's Paris correspondent says that the reports of the effects of the war preparations on French trade are greatly exaggerated, and that the exports to England, America, Belgium and the Brazils continue undiminished.

The London Times editorially remarks that every appearance within the last few days justifies the anticipation [of a] complete change in the foreign policy of the Emperor of the French.

M. RONHER, Minister of Commerce, fulfills ad interim the functions of Minister to Algeria, M. CHASSELOUP LAUBAT having declined the proffered appointment.

The monthly returns of the Bank of France show that the cash on hand has increased 33,000,000 francs.

The Moniteur publishes a decree promulgating an additional article to the treaty of extradition between France and the United States. The additional article was signed at Washington last year, and ratified on the 12th ult. It provides for the extradition of parties accused, whether as principals or accessories, of forging or putting in circulation false coin or paper money, or of malversion of funds belonging to a corporate body.

The Three per Cents. on the Paris Bourse, on the 9th, under rumors of the complete success of Lord COWLEY'S mission, rose to f.69 10. On the following day there was a strong reaction and a decline of ¾ took place. On the 11th the market opened flat and lower, but afterwards the Threes improved, closing at f.68 15.

The Paris correspondent of the Herald, in a letter dated Thursday evening, says: "The hopes of peace, to which the resignation of the head of the war party gave rise are daily melting away under the influence of war articles which semi-official journals are instructed to publish. They steadily repeat that no change has taken place in the Emperor's policy; that grave difficulties still exist between France and Austria; that the settlement of the Italian question is necessary for the peace of Europe, and that if it cannot be obtained by diplomacy, other means will be resorted to."

The Paris correspondent of the Times describes the note in the Moniteur on the armament as a wilful misstatement. It was, he says, submitted to the Emperor at about midnight of Friday. His Majesty was informed that it was merely a reproduction in substance of his speech from the throne, and having read a few lines at the beginning, and the last paragraph, he allowed it to pass. The note, however, ambiguous as it was, was inconsistent with the hopes of a general war, and the position of Prince NAPOLEON in the Cabinet became untenable. The prospects of the war party, so far as France is concerned, do not look very bright, thanks to the force of public opinion and the spirit manifested abroad.

The military preparations in France continue with unabated activity.

AUSTRIA.

Lord COWLEY left Vienna on the 10th for London. The success of his mission was doubtful.

A telegram to the Times says that Lord COWLEY is the bearer of a counter proposition, which it is hoped will prove acceptable.

The Paris Constitutionnel publishes an article on the armaments of Austria in Italy. It states that the effective force of the Austian troops in Italy has been increased from 50,000 to 180,000 men. It then adds:

"The Austrian army, it appears, is to be put in readiness for offensive movements in case they should be wanted. The movement of the troops to the frontiers for the purpose of concentrating them there confirm these reports; besides, a large quantity of artillery material has been dispatched to Piacenza, during the last few days. Cannon of large size have also arrived at Milan and Verona, part provided with carriages for the purposes of siege, and part with carriages for the coast concentration of artillery. From this it must be inferred that a veritable siege train is to be assembled at Pavia, which can have no other aim than the siege of strong places in Piedmont."

It is asserted that the facts contained in this article came directly from the Sardinian Government to the Tuileries.

The correspondent of Le Nord reports the success of Lord COWLEY'S mission, and says a basis of arrangement, likely to be favorably received by all the Powers, is decided upon.

The Frankfort Journal publishes an Austrian Ambassador at London, for communication to the British Cabinet. After expressing a desire to unite with the British Government in endeavoring to save, if possible, the horrors of a general conflagration, it hopes to make its pacific intentions perfectly clear, and remarks that if the Powers could prevail on Piedmont to abandon her policy of provocation, hopes for the tranquillity of Italy may be entertained, liberty in Piedmont being little less than license, and productive of the most serious inconvenience to the neighboring States. The dispatch concludes as follows: "Austria does not meditate any hostile project against Piedmont. She will abstain, notwithstanding the just complaint which she could bring forward, from all aggressive action to the same extent that the Government of Sardinia, on its side, will respect the inviolability of the Imperial territory, and that of its allowance. Your Excellency is authorized to give this assurance to Lord MALMESBURY. The Emperor wil draw the sword only for the defence of his incontestable rights, and for maintaining treaties, which we consider, equally with the British Government, as the only solid guarantee either for good or evil."

The Vienna Bourse closed with a downward tendency, owing to the supposed insecurity of the British Ministry.

PRUSSIA.

In the Chamber of Deputies, the Minister of Finance stated that the law prohibiting the exportation of horses over the Zollverein frontier, had come in force.

The Minister of Foreign Affairs gave a description of the present state of European affairs. The following is an abstract of his speech: "The Prussian Government does not for a moment doubt that it will be able in concert with England to procure due respect to existing treaties. England and Prussia are in this favorable position that they are to place themselves with impartiality between the antagonistic Powers—Austria and France. Up to the present time there have been only moderate hopes of success, but grounds for hope are now realized." During the last words the Chamber gave expression to its approval by loud and continued applause.

SARDINIA.

The Turin correspondent of the Herald says that the note in the Moniteur has fallen like a thunderbolt on the Court and Ministry, and the result of the pacific declarations of France may be to hasten a conflict with Austria even single-handed.

The official Piedmontese Gazette contains the following: "The Austrian army in Italy having been placed on a war footing, the King has thought it necessary to call in the contingents. He hopes the country will receive with satisfaction these measures, which are necessary for the national independence and honor of the country."

The subscription to the National Loan considerably exceeded the amount asked for.

The Piedmontese Gazette publishes a Royal decree prohibiting the exportation of forage and oats via the Lombardy frontier.

LATEST.

The Turin Correspondent of the London Herald reports matters more hopelessly warlike than ever. The King and his Ministers want war at any price.

The other correspondents concur in stating that neither the articles in the Moniteur, nor the resignation of Prince NAPOLEON have destroyed the hopes or altered the expectations of the war party. The necessary aggressive act, they say, may be found at hand whenever wanted.

SPAIN.

The semi-official journal of Madrid announces that the affair pending with the Holy See had received a satisfactory solution.

NAPLES.

The London Post insinuates that the King of Naples had become veritably insane.

RUSSIA.

The Grand Duke CONSTANTINE of Russia had met with a distinguished reception at Malta. The event is noticed as a significant one, and as being the first real interchange of courtesies between England and Russia since the termination of the war.

TURKEY.

The army of observation on the Danube is said to have been increased to 30,000.

It is said that the Porte claims the right of appointing the Hospodars, and that Sir H. BULWER advises the Porte to grant this concession to the Principalities.

AFRICA.

Dates from Cape Coast Castle are to Feb. 12, and Bathurst Feb. 23.

There was much uneasiness at Lagos. The slave-trade was struggling for predominance over legitimate business

All was quiet on the Gold Coast. Trade was generally dull, and there was not much oil coming from the interior.

CHINA.

The China advices are to Jan. 19. The British war vessels, Furious and Cruiser, which were left behind in the Elgin Expedition, in the Yang-tse-Kiang, had been enabled to get out, owing to an unexpected rise in the river. Admiral SEYMOUR and the marines of the flag-ship had gone to Canton, and further operations were expected against the braves.

Sailing of the Niagara for Boston.

HALIFAX, Sunday, March 27.

The Royal Mail Steamship Niagara sailed from here at 7 o'clock this evening for Boston, where she will be due at a very early hour on Tuesday morning.

Further from Brazil and the River Plate.

THE REAR-GUARD OF THE PARAGUAY SQUADRON—THE RIVER PLATE—INTERESTING FROM PARAGUAY.

Files of papers from Rio Janeiro, to Jan. 26, have come to hand.

The American war-steamer Atlanta, Commander RIDGELY, arrived at Rio Jan. 19, on her way to join the Paraguay squadron. The Atlanta left at Pernambuco, on the 13th, the war-steamer Westernport, which was to follow on the ensuing day. The war-steamer Memphis, Commander MARCHANT, arrived at Rio on the 21st January. The Metacomet was at Maranham Jan. 31.

There is no news of interest from Rio not previously received.

At Montevideo, Jan. 15, the preparations for hostilities were still persisted in, though less openly, owing to the decided aversion of the people to war. It was supposed there that Mr. BOWLIN had already reached Paraguay, and that he would find the Envoys of Brazil, France, England and Sardinia there before him.

The statement that General URQUIZA had gone to Paraguay is contradicted. He was still at San José. Rosas has recently addressed to him, as President of the Argentine Republic, a protest against the law of Buenos Ayres in regard to the goods and estates of the ex-dictator.

The President of Paraguay visited Hamaita, on the 14th December, to inspect the fortifications. On the 25th, he returned to Asuncion. The object of his visit, according to the Seminario, was to verify the condition of the fortifications, and to examine the drill of the troops.

The Seminario says that "he found everything in the very best order; and the troops only too anxious for the moment of conflict to arrive. This armed peace, this attitude of permanent expectation, is wearisome; they are fatigued with evolutions, exercises, and sham fights; they long impatiently for the reality. The immediate imminence of war has decided the Government to recall those absent on leave to their several corps; and as these hasten to Hamaita, they do so in the instant expectation of having a fight."

The Rosario Confederacion states there had passed up the river a heavy iron chain designed to bar the passage of the Paraguay River to the North Americans.

The anniversary of the independence of Paraguay was celebrated with great pomp on the 25th December.

The Indicted Officials.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

SIR: Is not your correspondent "Glaucus" mistaken in stating that the Common Council were indicted for making the grant that the bill before the Legislature purports to ratify? I had supposed that they were indicted for granting, without asking legislative authority. ACCURACY.

The Empire City having received her usual mail, passengers and freight from Havana, embarked 105 bags of California mails from the Illinois, and 100 of her passengers, and left at noon on the 24th for this port, to be followed by the Granada as above three hours later.

AFFAIRS AT ALBANY.

Bills Reported Complete—Brooklyn Water and Sewerage Bills Reported—Gas—City Reforms—Position of Projects Started Here—Spring Weather, and the Time Hanging Heavily, &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Monday, March 28, 1859.

The Grinding Committee has not been in session to-day, and little mischief has been done. The Senate's Committee of Nine is not yet named, so most of the morning the Senate gave to the consideration of the proposition to reduce the tolls on Canals, and to the Witnesses' Liberty bill, but finished neither. They passed the Manhattan Savings Institution in third reading, and failed to carry the Greenport Ferry bill, whose reconsideration, however, was tabled.

In Assembly, an hour was given to the discussion of the grant of $100,000 to the Albany and Susquehanna Railroad, without settling it. Tiring of everlasting third readings, there was a pause for petitions, among the flood of which were memorials against the opening of Albany-street, and from colored citizens of Brooklyn for the abolition of the property qualification. The Brooklyn water and sewerage bills were reported to the House by Mr. MOORE, in the same shape that the Water Commissioners left them in.

Four gas bills have been introduced into the Assembly—GOVER'S, TOMLINSON'S and TUTHILL'S—which all slumber in the first Standing Committee to which they were referred. For them there was substituted in the Judiciary one offered by Mr. SPENCER. This has since been ground and sent to a Select Committee of five to report complete. But before your interested readers see this, it may be disposed of finally. So they had better save traveling expenses and not come up either to stop or forward it.

While everything is so stupid in both branches of the Legislature, and the ladies in the gallery doze, I will look up the position of some of the bills interesting to your locality and note where they float or ground. The numbers refer to the position they hold on General Orders.

To define powers of the Departments of the Municipal Government in New-York City—introduced out of Cities and Villages, to which OPDYKE'S and S. B. CHILDS' bills had been sent. Committee of the Whole As nobody knows exactly what this is, it was ordered to-night to be printed forthwith, and as soon as it sees daylight it shall be started for the TIMES office. It is supposed to contain a Metropolitan revolution within it, and more reforms than any other city in Christendom could swing to in any one year.

The bill imposing tolls on Railroads was reported for the consideration of the House—that is to say, put where the Lobby can have a litte chance at it. The Lighterage bill was reported back to the House again by a majority of the Select Committee; but it will never get any further I suspect.

Committees reported complete, to-day, the following: To provide against unsafe buildings, incorporating the New York Dime Savings' Bank, conferring additional powers on the New-York Fire Commissioners, to amend the East River Insurance Company's Charter, to incorporate the Long Island Ferry Company and to amend the Sun Mutual Insurance Company's Charter.

Balmy Spring is walking over the hills and tinting green all the valleys. The farmers of the Legislature yawn and feel the day's duties irksome. Instead of cries of "Mr. Speaker," and "an act entitled an act to amend an act," and all that, their ears itch to hear the lowing of cattle, the bleating of sheep, and the songs of birds. Even members from the City exhibit signs of willingness to forego their $3 a day and Dr. MAGOON on Sundays, for a return to their old employments.

Speaking of Dr. MAGOON, yesterday morning, in his sermon, he gave Mr. KIRKPATRICK, of Auburn State Prison, a first-rate notice. He did just right, said the Doctor; like NAPOLEON, he fired his shot first, leaving blank cartridges for the second. And that, said he, is the way everywhere. Give fair notice, then fire and scare the enemy afterward, if you wish, and they have survived. Acting upon this principle, Sabbath before last, Dr. MAGOON suddenly fired hot shot into his congregation, talking plainly to them about the necessity of enlarging his church, giving him proper compensation, &c. The congregation is in a great sweat lest he should accept a call which he has received, with an abundant salary annexed, to a church in San Francisco. His Albany church is full to overflowing every Sabbath, and scores who come a little late, find even the standing room too narrow and strait for them. If he goes, the Legislature ought to double the per diem of members.

The one hundred days are out two weeks from Wednesday next. But Governor MORGAN has determined to sign no bills after the adjournment, and that fact may hold the uneasy members together several days beyond the time when the pay stops. GLAUCUS.

NEW-YORK LEGISLATURE.

SENATE....ALBANY, Monday, March 28.

The resolutions respecting the reduction of canal tolls, being the special order, were discussed and postponed till Wednesday.

Several bills of no general interest were passed.

The bill restricting costs in actions brought by Mutual Insurance Companies came up for its third reading. On motion it was recommitted in order to make it entirely prohibit such actions in the case of bankrupt companies.

The bill to amend the Charter of the Central American Commercial and Industrial Company was passed.

The special order, the bill to protect the liberty of witnesses, was then taken up and debated.

EVENING SESSION.

The consideration of the bill to increase the powers and duties of Public Administrators, occupied the Evening Session.

Mr. ELY moved to substitute that unclaimed money in the banks be paid to the Comptroller, and when claimed be paid back to the banks. Lost.

The bill was then ordered to a third reading.

The balance of the session was taken up in the consideration of private claims.

The Grinding Committee was announced as follows: Messrs. Noxon, Mather, Sloan, J. D. Willard, W. A. Wheeler, Foote, Williams, Halsted—five Republicans and three Democrats.

ASSEMBLY....ALBANY, Monday, March 28.

Mr. GOVER offered a resolution requesting the Governor to furnish the House with all the information in his possession relative to the order disbanding the 12th Regiment of the New-York State Militia.

The bill increasing the powers of the Courts in the counties of New-York and Kings was reported adversely.

The bills to provide against unsafe buildings in New-York, to incorporate the Dime Savings' Bank, and to confer additional powers on the Board of Fire Commissioners, were ordered to a third reading.

Mr. C. S. SPENCER again reported the bill to license lighters in the port of New-York.

Mr. MEEKS stated that he dissented entirely from the bill.

Mr. POND, from the majority of the Committee on Cities and Villages, reported a comprehensive bill to prescribe certain duties, powers, tenures of office, and emoluments of the departments in the New-York Municipal Government. The bill is a compound of the several propositions in the hands of the Committee. Its provisions are as follows: On the 1st of July, 1859, the Ten Governors of the Almshouse are to be abolished and six Almshouse Commissioners are to take their place. These Commissioners are to be appointed by the Mayor and Supervisors. The Commissioners first appointed are to have three terms of office, as follows: two till January, 1861; two till January, 1863, and two till January, 1865. Afterwards their term of office is to be six years. To confirm or reject the appointments of these Commissioners there must be a majority of all the Supervisors. All the powers and duties of the present Board of Ten Governors are given to the new Board. The new Board has also especial power to remove and appoint all their officers.

The office of City Inspector is also abolished, and in its place a Bureau of Sanitary Inspection is established in the Mayor's office. The Chief of the Bureau is to be a physician, at a yearly salary of $3,000. The Bureau is charged with the practical enforcement of the health laws, and the registration of births, marriages and deaths. The books of the City Inspector's Department are to be transferred to the new Bureau.

The Board of Health as reconstructed consists of the Mayor, Presidents of the Board of Aldermen and Councilmen, the Supervisors, the Comptroller, the Health Officer, the Resident Physician, the Health Commissioners and the President of the Croton Board. The meetings of the Board of Health are to be expressly convened by the Mayor. The old powers of the Board are continued.

In the Finance Department there is constituted a Deputy Comptroller who, if a vacancy occurs on the filing of bonds, takes the place of Comptroller. The collection of assessments is made a part of the Finance Department. For the better purposes of revenue the care of the markets is given to the Finance Department.

The Health Wardens' office is abolished. Inspectors and Sealers of Weights are placed under the Mayor. The duty of cleaning the streets is transferred to the Croton Aqueduct Board. The Bureau of street-cleaning is for this purpose established, the chief officer to be Street Inspector with one Deputy to each Ward. No Bureau or clerkship now existing is to be abrogated by the Common Council unless the head of the Department shall ask it. The Mayor is to appoint all the heads, and remove them at pleasure, except the Comptroller. The Street Commissioner, Croton Aqueduct Board, Corporation Counsel and Chamberlain are to be continued in office, while the Comptroller's term lasts. The Mayor and Comptroller are still to be elected by separate ballot. The heads of departments are to appoint and remove all their subordinates at pleasure. The Common Council are to have each $1,000 salary, from Jan. 1, 1859: Receivers of Taxes to receive $4,000 salary; the Collector of Assessments, $3,500, in lieu of fees, and Deputy Collectors, $3,000 each. In other cases the existing salaries are to be continued. Contracts are to be made without confirmation of the Common Council.

The bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole. It is supposed to be the intention of the majority to pass it.

Mr. HUTCHINSON reported for the consideration of the House a bill for tolling railroads competing with the canals in the carrying trade. There is not considered to be any chance of its passage.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

BILLS PASSED.

To regulate the sale of keg oysters. Incorporating the trustees of the parochial fund of the Protestant Episcopal Church of New-York. Relative to the fisheries in Jamaica Bay. To regulate the compensation for the conveyance of prisoners to houses of refuge and lunatic asylums. Also a number of bills of only local interest.

Mr. TUTHILL moved instructions to the Clerk to have the bill defining the duties &c. of the departments of the City government of New-York, printed forthwith, so as to facilitate the action of the House.

Mr. De Witt was born in Connecticut, previous to the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, and about five years before Canada was divided. He settled in Canada many years since, was elected to the Legislature of the Lower Province in 1830; sat in several Parliaments of United Canada, and left public life at the close of the session of 1857, at which time he was the oldest member from Canada East.

LAW REPORTS.

SUPREME COURT—Chambers—March 28.

Before Justice Clerke.

DECISION OF THE CUMEEN CASE.

Matter of the Petition of Michael Cumeen.—This was a habeas corpus, on the application of a father, with a view to procure the custody of his children, Elizabeth, Mary C. and Lydia Ann. The facts of the case were stated in the Times of Friday, March 4. They were briefly these: The wife was a Protestant, the husband a Catholic. They had separated on account of differences in religious sentiment. The husband had been guilty, according to the wife's account, of many acts of cruelty and inhumanity towards her, and finally turned her out of home. She went with her children to New-Jersey, to her parents. The husband sought by this proceeding to obtain the custody of the children.

Clerke, J.—The common law no doubt recognized the paramount right of the father to the custody of his infant children; but while the Courts still maintain his right in preference to all others, (other things being equal,) they will not deliver the children to his custody, when to do so will be manifestly to their detriment and discomfort. I think the father in this case, in his intercourse with his family, has evinced a suspicious and splenetic temper, which could not fail to make the children exceedingly unhappy, and pervert their dispositions. He contradicts many of the instances of tyrannical and abusive conduct of which his wife testifies; but his explanations are unsatisfactory, and his wife is corroborated by Poole, and by Mr. and Mrs. Cothell, witnesses in the case. His conduct on the melancholy occasion when his eldest daughter was dying evinces a state of mind totally incompatible with that affection which a father capable of ruling his family with mildness and discretion should possess.

The testimony also clearly shows that at least latterly he was either unable or unwilling to provide the necessary support for his children. Three witnesses in corroboration of the statement of Mrs. Cumeen prove a state of almost destitution during the severest portion of the past Winter, which the testimony of the relator does not satisfactorily explain.

I may therefore say, in the language of Chief Justice Thompson in the matter of Waldron (13 J. R. 419), "that it will be most for the benefit of the children to remain with their grandparents (and mother), than to be put under the care and custody of their father." Writ dismissed.

The New-York and New-Haven Railroad Company vs. John H. Dykes et al.—Motion to vacate separate orders granted; costs to abide the event.

Before Justice Ingraham.

Matter of the Will of Elias Anser.—Motion for a writ of prohibition denied, with costs.

COMMON PLEAS—Trial Term.

Before Judge Daly.

THE VIGILANCE COMMITTEE CASE—COMPLAINT DISMISSED.

Molony vs. Dows.—This morning the presiding Judge rendered the following elaborate opinion granting the motion for a dismissal of the complaint argued on Friday and Saturday:

Daly, J.—The short period that has elapsed between the close of the argument and the time for the decision of this motion, has barely sufficed to enable me to do more than examine the large number of authorities cited in the course of it, and in deciding the motion I am enabled only to express my views in a very general way. I think the point is well taken that an action cannot be maintained in this Court, or in any Court of this State, to recover a pecuniary satisfaction in damages for a willful injury to the person inflicted in another State, where, at the time of the act, both the wrong doer and the party injured were domiciled in that State as resident citizens. It is a general principle of the law that every right withheld should have its remedy, and every wrong done its proper redress; but in applying this broad principle the distinction must not be lost sight of between those actions which are brought for the purpose of obtaining that to which the plaintiff has a right, and those which partake of the double character of a private injury and a public wrong. To the latter class belong actions for violence done to the person, and this is an action of that kind. It is for forcibly seizing the person of the plaintiff, restraining him of his liberty, and causing him to be transported by force out of and beyond the limits of California—an act intentionally and willfully done and therefore falling within that class of cases in which, from the tendency of such an act to disturb the public peace, it is both a crime or misdemeanor as well as a private injury. By the law of this State—and I must presume until the contrary is shown that the laws of California are the same—such an act, if it had occurred here would subject the offender to fine and imprisonment as well as to a civil action for damages at the suit of the injured party, in which action the Jury would be entitled to take into consideration the effect or tendency of such an act to disturb the public peace; and in view of its public tendency or effect they would have the right to go beyond what might suffice as a compensation or reparation to the injured party, and enhance the damages by way of punishment to the offender. This right on the part of a Jury in such an action to give punitory or vindictive damages has been recognized by the Court of Appeals in the late case of Thompson vs. Keareber, 7 Am. Law Reg., 50, and must now be regarded as the law in this State. And this element—the consideration of the offence offered to the peace and good order of the State as a ground for imposing enhanced or additional damages by way of punishment—shows that there is embraced in every such action, not only reparation to the injured individual, but also, in addition, pecuniary satisfaction, enforced for the general welfare and benefit of the community or State. By the comity of nations the courts of all civilized countries lend their aid, as a general rule, to enable a party to obtain that to which he has a right, where, from the nature of the subject matter and the position of the parties, it is in their power to do so; but it does not follow from this that they will undertake to redress every wrong that may have happened in any part of the world, because the parties, plaintiff or defendant, may afterwards happen to be within their jurisdiction. The extent to which they will go, upon the principle of comity I have stated, is, I think, neither doubtful nor uncertain, but very clearly defined. In view of the intercommunication between the people of all countries that springs out of commerce and the multiplied relations and infinite interests to which it gives rise, courts of justice have recognized and acted upon the maxim, debitum et contractus sunt nullius loci, for debts or contracts cannot be regarded as having any fixed place or locality, and the nature of such obligations and the duty of inforcing them, where the ability exists, is and ought to be recognized by every tribunal. Hence, contracts wherever made, or whoever may be the parties that entered into them, have always been enforced when jurisdiction of the parties is obtained by the Courts of this country or of England; and several cases in this country authorize the further conclusion that actions to recover compensation for injury done to personal property comes within the reason of the rule upon which this comety is founded. But the invasion of the personal liberty of an individual, either by an assault upon his person, the restraint of his liberty, or any other unlawful employment of force to the detriment or injury of his person, stands upon a very different footing, and where redress may be had at the tribunals of the State or county where his person was assaulted or his liberty was invaded, I know nothing in the principles or the policy of the law authorizing other tribunals to interfere for the redress of such an injury, but very weighty reasons against it. Without suggesting other considerations, this case itself affords a sufficient illustration. The injury here complained of was the deliberate act of an extensive body organized in the city of San Francisco under the name of a Vigilance Committee, assuming for the time being in that city the functions of government, acting in concert, maintaining an armed force, seizing persons accused of crimes and publicly putting them to death. And the question involved in such a movement or social irruption, so public in its object and so deliberate in its action, namely, whether it was an unwarrantable exercise of power or a political necessity, is more appropriately examined, and can be better ascertained within the limits of the State where it occurred than before the tribunals of other States or of other countries. The duty of any Government or State to protect the person of the citizen against unlawful violence, and to enforce his right to reparation from the wrong doer who lays violent hands upon him, is founded upon the principle laid down by Lord Coke in Calvin's case, that allegiance and protection are reciprocal; and hence, as between British subjects, wherever throughout the British dominions the reciprocal obligation of allegiance and protection extends, the courts of Westminster Hall have entertained jurisdiction of action for injuries to the person. Within this class are the many cases cited upon the argument, in which the Governors of distant colonies, or official persons, have been held to answer for personal torts. The case of Rafael vs. Varelet, (2 Wm. Bl., 1,055,) forms no exception; for, although the unlawful seizure of the plaintiff's person in that case was in the province of Oude, in the dominions of Sujah Dawlah, an independent prince, the plaintiff's imprisonment was continued in the province of Bengal, of which the defendant was President. The British courts, moreover, in recognition of the duty of British subjects to obey the laws, will hold them amenable for injuries done within the British dominions to strangers or foreigners. This was the case of Rafael in the case just referred to, who was an Armenian merchant; but it is more strongly illustrated by the case of Tivelat vs. Morrison, (Yelv. 198,) in which a merchant of Brabant, trading in England, maintained an action against a British subject for calling him a bankrupt in England; and in Pisani vs. Lawson, (9 Bing. N. C., 90,) in which a foreigner, residing and living at the time in Constantinople, maintained an action in the Common Pleas for a libel published concerning him in England. Resident strangers or foreigners, as they owe obedience to the laws, are entitled to the protection of the laws; hence, in English Courts, actions between foreigners for injuries to person or property occurring within the British dominions may be maintained; but this is the limit, and I think no case will be found in the whole course of English jurisprudence in which an action for an injury to the person, inflicted by one foreigner upon another in a foreign country, was ever held to be maintainable in an English Court. The only thing bearing upon the subject is the remark of Lord Mansfield in Mostyn vs. Fabrigos (1 Cowp., 161,) in which he questions the existence of the right. The absence of all authority in England upon such a point is almost as conclusive as an express adjudication denying the existence of such a right. In this country, and especially in this State, actions for injuries to the person occurring upon the high seas, even as between foreigners, have been allowed; but in the leading case, Gardner vs. Thomas, (14 Johns. 134,) the distinction is taken by the Court that the injury occurred without the actual or exclusive territory of any nation; and it may be said, in consonance with the principles here recognized, that a similar rule would apply where the injury is done in a country or place where there is no government or tribunal to afford redress. In our country the principle of the reciprocal duties of obedience and protection equally applies. The citizen owes obedience to the General Government, and the General Government affords him protection as far as its constitutional power or limit extends. Beyond that this reciprocal relation subsists between him and the Government of the particular State of which, for the time being, he is a member, which in that respect has all the powers and attributes of a sovereign State; and it is to that State that he trusts chiefly for the security of his person, through the operation of the laws it has enacted for his protection and benefit. If an assault is made upon his person he has such remedy as the laws of the State provide, to which, for the time being, he belonged, and where the wrong was done him; and as the act is not only an injury to him, but also a disturbance of the peace and good order of the people of that State; and as both considerations enter into and affect the civil action for damages, I think the action maintainable only in the State where the unlawful act was done. Two cases cited upon the argument are not reconcilable with the conclusion here arrived at. It was held in Walis vs. Thomas, (2 Bibb., 458,) in 1802, that though the injury was inflicted in the Territory of Indiana, that an action was maintainable in the Court of Kentucky; but the decision was put upon the ground that the point was decided in Mostyn vs. Fabrigos (1 Cowp.)—a clear misapprehension on the part of the Court—as no such point arose in that case, or was passed upon. In Smith vs. Bull, (17 Wend., 322,) the action was for assault and battery, committed in Pennsylvania; but the right to maintain such an action in this State was conceded by the counsel for the plaintiff in error, and taken for granted by Mr. Justice Cowen, by whom the opinion of the Court was delivered. The question considered and passed upon by the Court was, whether the statute, which declared that actions for injury to the person should be tried in the county where the cause of action arose, applied to the Court of Common Pleas, where this action was brought, or was limited to the Supreme Court. If this case is to be considered as a precedent, and binding as an authority upon a point not taken nor inquired into, though involved, then it would be controlling upon the motion. But I do not think that it is. If a point is essential to the decision rendered, it will be presumed that it was duly considered, and that all that could be urged for or against it was presented to the Court; but if it appears from the report of the case that it was not taken or inquired into at all, there is no ground for this presumption, and the authority of the case is proportionally weakened. The learned Dr. Lieber, in his work on Legal Hermeneutics, defines a precedent in law to be a decision arrived at by a competent tribunal after a patient inquiry into all points bearing upon the subject decided, and certainly this case does not come up to such a definition; and he further remarks: "If we are convinced, after patient inquiry, which includes a thorough knowledge of the subject matter, that we ought in justice to deviate from a former decision, we do wrong to perpetuate it. That the most eminent jurists, such as Lord Mansfield, have acted upon this principle, and overruled what was wrong, though with great caution." After two days spent in the argument of this question, by most able counsel, involving the examination of every authority bearing upon the question that diligence or acuteness could suggest, and giving to it such further research as the limited time afforded me would permit, I feel that I come within this learned civilian's requisition, and may assume the responsibility of refusing to adhere to, or be governed by, the authority of a case where the point I am now required to pass upon was taken for granted without any examination, either upon principle or authority. Having come to this conclusion, it becomes unnecessary to examine the other point discussed upon the motion. A non-suit must be entered.

CHAMPAGNE WINES

of Messrs. JACQUES GOERG & CO., at Chalons-sur-Marne, France. We present their Wines to the public under two brands, namely:

The "PERLE" Wine is of exquisite flavor and fruity taste, and is guaranteed to compare favorably with any Wine in the American market.

From the long experience, extensive possessions, and large means of the well-known house of Jacques Goerg & Co., and their determination to furnish wines which shall meet with the approval of consumers, we feel persuaded that a trial will fully establish all we claim for the excellence of these wines.

HYATT'S PATENT LIGHTS.
A CARD HAVING BEEN ISSUED TO THE PUBLIC

By parties who frankly confess that they do not pay me for my invention, I avail myself of this opportunity to advertise the names of those who do. The following persons, only, are licensed under my patents in this City:

George R. Jackson & Co.
J. B. & W. W. Cornell & Co.
S. B. Althause & Co.

The law is, that a person who purchases or uses a patented article is equally liable for infringement with the maker of it. The "makers" having fairly notified the "users" of their intention not to pay, the "users" have only themselves to blame if I collect my tariff of them, as I shall certainly do. THADDEUS HYATT.

CAUTION.—TO WATCH DEALERS AND JEWELERS.—New-York, March, 1859.—I. & M. T. LEVITT, London, England, and No. 19 Maiden-lane, New-York, chronometer and watch manufacturers, hereby inform the trade that certain of the plain watches and movements of their own make, bearing their names and that of Morris Tobias, No. 31 Minories London, imported into this country previously to the establishment of their agency, No. 19 Maiden-lane, under the management of J. H. BRADBURY, have been jeweled in this City in aqua marine stones, contrary to the principles on which their fine movements and first-class watches have heretofore been constructed, such alterations being not alone injurious to the durability of the watches by reason of the softness of the aqua marines, but calculated to impair the faith of purchasers of these goods whose reliance has been uniformly placed on their quality. In order therefore that there may be no mistaking the genuine movements, purchasers will find on examination that all watches and movements finished at their manufactory in London, England, are jeweled in Rubies and Chrysolites only, and for future protection the certificate which accompanies each watch or movement will be countersigned by their sole agent. J. H. BRADBURY.

GAS CHANDELIERS, BRACKETS, HALL AND OTHER PENDANTS, &c., &c.—The subscribers, returning thanks to their friends and the public generally for the very liberal patronage heretofore bestowed on them, respectfully beg leave to say they are now fully prepared to furnish the above articles in every variety on the shortest notice and most liberal terms. Being manufacturers, they are enabled to offer such inducements to purchasers as will well repay them for a call at their manufactory previous to purchasing elsewhere.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The steamships Niagara and Alps, of the Cunard line, from Liverpool March 12, arrived at Halifax shortly after noon on Sunday, the 27th. Their news is three days later, and is of interest. The ministerial measure in regard to Church rates was rejected in the House of Commons, March 9, by a vote of 254 to 171. Among various notices of amendments to the Government Reform bill introduced in the House, Lord John Russell had propounded two, one qualifying the disposition of the freehold franchise, the other demanding a wider extension of the right of suffrage. Mr. Disraeli gave notice of various modifications to be presented by Government. Lord Bury had made a call for the papers in the French Fisheries question, but had withdrew his motion at the instance of Sir E. Bulwer Lytton, who said he could not enter into the subject because it involved danger. The Neapolitan Exiles had presented an address to the Mayor of Cork, in which their action on board the David Stewart is explained. The exiles were meeting with a warm welcome. Five of the Phœnix Club prisoners were on trial for treason at Tralee. The aspect of the war question in France is very little changed. Notwithstanding the recent pacific article in the Moniteur, and the resignation of the head of the war party, the feeling of insecurity still existed, and the immense war preparations continued with unabated activity. The funds in both the English and French markets had fluctuated considerably, but closed about the same as by previous advices. Lord Cowley had left Vienna for London. The success of his mission was extremely doubtful. A dispatch in the London Times states that he was the bearer of a counter proposition from Austria, which it was hoped would prove acceptable. An article published in the Paris Constitutionnel states that the number of Austrian troops in Italy have been increased from 60,000 to 180,000, and that a large quantity of artillery is being hurried forward, evidently for the preparation of a formidable siege train. Matters look very warlike in Sardinia, and it is believed that she will commence a war with Austria single-handed. The intelligence from other European States is also interesting. Later advices from China state that there is a prospect of a renewal of hostilities.

Files of Rio Janeiro papers to Jan. 26 add information to the advices to a later date received by the way of England. We thus learn the whereabouts of the smaller steamers of the Paraguay flotilla, the Westernport being reported at Pernambuco; the Atlanta and the Memphis at Rio Janeiro. From Washington we hear of the Metacomet at Maranham, Jan. 31. The news from Paraguay, as given by the Correio Mercantil, indicates a determination of the dictator, Lopez, to bar the passage of the American vessels into the Paraguay River. The official organ describes the defensive preparations as complete; the fortifications being in excellent order, and abundantly armed and manned; while the troops were all impatience for the conflict.

We have news from Havana to the 25th inst. by the arrival of the steamship Isabel at Charleston. The Pacific mail steamship Illinois, having on board the mails and treasure which left San Francisco on the 5th, was at Havana with her shaft broken. She could not be repaired before coming to New-York. There is no political news from Havana. Sugars were reported quiet, but firm.

The United States Mail steamship Empire City, from New-Orleans on the 20th inst. and Havana on the 24th, arrived at this port this morning about 1 o'clock. She brings a portion of the mails and one hundred passengers of the steamship Illinois, which was at Havana with a broken shaft. The treasure of the Illinois, with the rest of the mails and passengers, were transferred to the Granada, which fortunately happened to be in port, and are near at hand—the Granada having left three hours later than the Empire City.

By the arrival of the Overland Mail at St. Louis, from San Francisco on the 4th inst., we have later advices from California, British Columbia and Arizona. The California news is of little consequence. From British Columbia we learn that Governor Douglas refused to allow the Americans in Victoria to publicly celebrate Washington's Birthday, in consequence of which there was much indignation. The silver-mines in Arizona are represented to be very productive. The accounts of recent battles between the United States troops and the Camanches are confirmed. The Apaches were also becoming very troublesome. A band of the Papagoss had been pursued by Lieut. Reed into the Mexican town of Santa Cruz, and there captured. The Mexican authorities were indignant in consequence of this "invasion," and had called the people to arms.

The report of the Legislative proceedings yesterday will be found somewhat interesting—especially those of the Assembly. A majority report was made from the Committee on Cities and Villages, relative to the government of New-York City. The Committee have constructed a comprehensive bill, compounded of the several propositions which have been submitted to them. The changes proposed by it will be found enumerated in the report. The bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole, and it is believed that it will pass. The bill to provide against unsafe buildings in this City was ordered to a third reading; also the bill to confer additional powers on the Fire Commissioners. A resolution was offered, requesting the Governor to furnish information relative to the disbanding of the Twelfth Regiment. A number of private bills were passed. In the Senate a number of important measures were discussed, but no definite action was taken on them. During the evening session the bill to increase the powers and duties of Public Administrators was ordered to a third reading.

A man named Foster, convicted of burglary, was executed at Charleston, S. C., on Friday last. South Carolina, we believe, is the only State in which burglary is punishable by death, and this is probably the only instance in which such a sentence has been carried into effect.

Last night about 8½ o'clock a deliberate attempt was made to murder Harry Jennings, the well-known keeper of the sporting-house No. 49 Madison-street, by a person claiming to be his brother. A double-barreled pistol was presented at his breast, one ball from which struck his collar-bone and the other shattered his hand. The attempt grew out of a misunderstanding relative to the conduct of the bar-keeper employed in the house.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen, last evening, an important communication was received from the Comptroller, showing the course pursued by him since his accession to office, in relation to the books and accounts pertaining to the fiscal affairs of the Corporation. In reply to a resolution, the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department reported that he had no means of knowing what the expense of keeping the steam fire engines has been, as he did not employ the engineer and two assistants, nor was he consulted in the matter. Referred to the Committee on Fire Department. The Street Commissioner requested authority to cause estimates of the depth of water in certain slips, which he enumerated, to be made, as the lessees of many of the piers and slips are demanding deductions from their rent, on the ground that the slips are not dredged to the proper depth, and to advertise for proposals to do the work by contract in all cases where the expense will not exceed $250. The communication, and a resolution granting the necessary power, were referred to the Committee on Wharves, Piers and Slips. The Street Commissioner reported that the Commissioners of Estimate had assessed upon the City $37,091 66, in the matter of widening Duane-street, and $34,000 in the matter of widening Reade-street. Referred to the Committee on Assessments. A communication from the Street Commissioner, asking for two extra clerks, at $100 a month, for three months, to furnish the Comptroller copies of all the uncollected items of assessments, on the 1st of January, 1859, was referred to the Committee on Salaries and Offices.

In the Board of Councilmen, last evening, $1,500 was appropriated to the Children's Aid Society. Councilman Frear introduced an amendment to the ordinance regulating the City Inspector's Department, which was laid on the table and ordered to be printed. It vests the Superintendent of Sanitary Inspection with the powers of the City Inspector whenever sickness or any other cause shall prevent that official from discharging his duty.

There was a large meeting of the colored people of New-York and Brooklyn, at Shiloh Church, last evening, at which the Hon. J. R. Giddings made an address, and received a gold watch and Bible as testimonials of respect for his uniform defence of the colored man's rights in Congress. The Rev. H. H. Garnett and the Rev. Dr. Cheever also spoke.

In the California Vigilance Committee case, Molony vs. Dows, Judge Daly yesterday morning rendered an elaborate opinion granting the motion to dismiss the complaint, on the ground that the Courts of this State will not entertain an action for an assault and battery committed in another State between residents of that State.

Cotton was purchased, yesterday, to the extent of 7,000 bales, chiefly in transitu. Prices were steady. The movements in Breadstuffs and Groceries were limited. Provisions were in demand at, however, reduced rates for Pork. Other branches of trade exhibited no important changes.

Political Signs of the Times.

Governor Hunt's speech to the Old Whigs last week excites a good deal of attention throughout the country. It is regarded, at all events represented, as a great and significant political demonstration. What there is either in the speech itself, or in the circumstances under which it was made, to warrant such a view of its importance we cannot discover. It was a sensible, well-written document. Its sentiments were all excellent, patriotic and common-place. It contained nothing to which, in the abstract, the great majority of candid men throughout the country will not readily assent. It extolled the services of the Old Whig Party and the teachings of the Old Whig leaders:—both are so thoroughly dead that this kind of eulogy is now perfectly safe, and is constantly uttered by the Democrats who warred against them all their lives. It denounced the weaknessess, the extravagance, the recklessness and the corruption of the present Administration:—and in this it only echoed the censures of the most influential of the men who placed it in power. It deplored sectionalism,—deprecated the current exaggerations of the danger to the North from Slavery,—expressed the opinion that its further extension had become impossible, and that the South itself was opposed to the restoration of the Slave-trade, and thought it very important that national men of all sections should combine and rescue the Government from its discreditable and calamitous condition.

All this is good. It will command very general approbation. But there is nothing in it that is new, or that will prove practically useful in the political movements of the day. It is simply what everybody has always said,—and is none the better, while it certainly is none the worse, for having been now so well said by Gov. Hunt. But when he comes to speak of practical matters, the Governor is somewhat less sensible and less instructive. While he had been laying down the broadest and most catholic basis of political action, and hoping for a union of all men opposed to the evils which he denounced, he could only exhort the Whigs to "stand fast to their integrity"—to rally around their time-honored flag, and maintain their ancient and well-known principles. If this means anything at all, it means that the Whigs are to maintain their old organization and continue their old party conflicts. Yet we can hardly suspect Governor Hunt of urging anything so absurd as this. He must know that political parties are growths of the day,—dependent for their life and breath upon the constantly-changing circumstances of the times, and necessarily, therefore, ephemeral in their nature. They change their form from a necessity which they cannot resist:—and he might as well exhort a snake to stand by his last year's skin, as to urge the people to adhere to a political organization which they have outgrown and sloughed off.

Gov. Hunt's speech is part of a general movement to drive the Republicans from a sectional into a national position, and to force them into alliance with parties which sympathize with them in the main but have acted against them. The Americans are conscious of their own inability to carry the country, or any State;—and they are desirous of uniting with the Republicans upon terms which shall not involve an absolute surrender. The old Whigs entertain similar aspirations. Both are dissatisfied with the sectional aspect of Republicanism, and still more dissatisfied with the leading men of the Republican Party. They want to act with a party which shall carry some of the Southern States,—partly on public grounds and partly to get rid of men known to be obnoxious to the South and unable to obtain Southern votes. Their motives are partly patriotic and partly personal. It is very desirable, beyond all doubt, that sectional divisions and contests should be ended as speedily as possible. Any organization of parties which excludes either party from the whole of any section of the Union, is unfortunate and greatly to be deprecated. It was the most unhappy feature in the canvass of 1856 that Col. Fremont had no electoral ticket in any Southern State. It was an element of weakness at the North as well as South,—for the instinct of love for the Union is very strong with the masses of the people everywhere.

It would be still more unfortunate for the Republicans in the next contest, for the Union sentiment would encounter less resistance in the emergencies of the country connected with the Slavery question. The Slavery issue will not be half as strong at the next election as it was in the last. The Kansas crisis cannot be renewed,—and we cannot quite yet believe that the South will be foolish enough to substitute the Slave-trade issue for it. The old Whigs and Americans, therefore, believe the Republicans will find it necessary to take national ground,—to enlarge their party platform and to take such position, and nominate such candidates as will permit them to extend their organization into the slaveholding States. Their activity just now, in holding meetings, making speeches, writing letters and carrying on elections, is designed to bring the Republicans to a realizing sense of this necessity.

It may or may not succeed. Just now the Republican Party feels strong enough to carry the country per se. If it feels so a year from now it will nominate its representative man, and go into the contest upon its own responsibility. If not, it will look about for an available candidate,—take some Southern or Western conservative, and go into the canvass on the basis of union against the Administration and the party now in power. If the councils of that party continue as distracted, and its conduct as imbecile, for a year to come as they have been for two years past, the Republicans can make their own choice.

The Exiles in England.

The Neapolitan exiles who carried an American ship from Cadiz into Cork by the force of their own will and of the captain's humanity, have fully explained themselves. They took the ground that the contract entered into with the captain of the David Stewart by the Neapolitan authorities, according to which they were to be conveyed from Spain to America, without their own consent, either asked or implied, was wholly void; that they were free men in virtue of their release from the dungeons of Naples, or of the expiration of their sentences; and that whatever they might have been expected to submit to had they been transferred from the dismal recesses of the prison of Ischia directly to the decks of a Neapolitan transport ship or man-of-war, they could not be required to acquiesce in an arrangement entered into after they had been removed from the jurisdiction of Naples to that of Spain, and, so to speak, restored to their natural rights as citizens of the world.

They urged this view upon the American captain, who, after a day's reflection, decided to accept it as sound and reasonable; and so put his helm up for Ireland. It does not yet clearly appear into what engagements the captain of the David Stewart may have entered with the representatives of the King of the Two Sicilies; but from the account which the Niagara now brings to us it would seem to be tolerably clear that he, at all events, took the responsibility of doing for these unhappy exiles what we are confident all his countrymen, and all the friends of justice and liberty throughout the world, will applaud him for doing.

Poerio and Settembrini and their companions are now within reach of the free thought and opinion of Europe. They can appeal with perfectly independent voice to whatever is high-minded, consistent, and resolute in the English nation, against the practical condonation of Neapolitan and Austrian tyranny which has of late been attempted in certain quarters of the English world; they can tell the English people what it is that Austria does for Italy, not merely within the limits of the much-vaunted treaties of 1815, but far beyond these limits, in regions refused to her sway by the allied Powers of Europe, and at Courts which make a mockery of independence while drawing the inspiration of their daily life from the Camarilla of Vienna. In their sufferings, in the ruin of their property, in the misery of their families, in their exile and their poverty, these men represent not merely the wrongs done to Italian liberty and to public law, but also the specific insults leveled at England herself by the Governments to which English statesmen and English journalists have of late been lending a countenance, dictated less by regard for them than by distrust of the only State which has shown itself ready really to call them to a strict account. The cause for which Poerio and Settembrini have dared and borne so much is the cause which England made her own long years ago, and which has been flung into her face with every circumstance of disdain and contumely by the rulers of Austria and of Naples. These are facts which the exiles of Naples may succeed in awakening the English nation to understand and to feel. England with all her conservatism and all her industry all her love of peace, and all her profound distrust of France, is after all too proud and powerful to sit down long in patience under such scornful treatment as she has received ever since the year 1847 from the despots of Southern Germany and of Italy. She will sooner or later see things as they are, and take her action accordingly.

By a curious coincidence the arrival of these representatives of Constitutional Italy in England follows immediately upon the publication of a manifesto from the Red Republicans of France which should suffice, if anything can, to show the statesmen of England and of Europe what lies before them in the future, if the throne of Napoleon III. is shaken from its place as the bulwark of true continental peace. The party of Ledru Rollin, of the man who has preached the "decline and fall" of England with a vehemence and fury worthy of Barere or St. Just, has spoken its mind upon the policy of the French Emperor. This exposition of a creed written deep upon the hearts of those who hold it should teach the world what it is that the Empire holds at bay. The Republicans at London talk of "France and her natural limits" with a calm determination which might well startle the sleepy Princes of the Rhine from their stupid acquiescence in the diplomacy of Austria. They talk too of Savoy as a necessary "department" of the French Republic that is to be, and while reviling Napoleon III. for what they assume to be his projects of foreign conquest, sufficiently reveal their own intention of doing, whenever the opportunity shall accrue to them, precisely what they failed in 1848 to accomplish, and carrying the "République Une et Indivisible." by fire and sword, not only to the Rhine but to the Danube and the Ticino, to the Po and the Vistula. It is not easy to conceive a stronger plea in behalf of the stand taken by the French Emperor, than this open avowal by the Republican leaders of the designs which await only his death or his downfall before involving the Continent in such struggles and such calamities as have not been equaled since the days of Leipsic and of Waterloo.

A New City Charter.

A bill was reported in the Assembly yesterday, to reorganize our City Government. The synopsis of its provisions, which is all that has yet reached us, leads us to believe that in some important respects it is a decided improvement upon our present charter. Its leading feature seems to be the consolidation of power and responsibility,—and this is precisely what we need most. The Almshouse Governors are to be six instead of ten, to hold office for six years and be appointed by the Mayor and Supervisors, instead of elected. The heads of all the Departments, except the Comptroller, are to be appointed and removed by the Mayor in his discretion. The City Inspectorship is made a bureau of the Mayor's office, and is to be filled by a physician. The duty of cleaning the streets is imposed upon the Croton Aqueduct Department, and the collection of assessments and care of the markets are devolved on the Comptroller. The members of the Common Council are to receive $1,000 a year. The Street Commissioner, Croton Aqueduct Board, Corporation Counsel and Chamberlain are to be continued in office while the Comptroller's term lasts. This provision puts these officers beyond peril of displacement for three years longer.

The bill seems to have been carefully framed, and indicates a good knowledge of the defects and necessities of our present City Government. We infer from its provisions that it is not in the exclusive interest of any political party, but that it enlists the support of several powerful interests, and is not likely to encounter any very formidable opposition.

Judgments Against the City—A Call on the Mayor.

There would appear to be an unaccountable reluctance in certain quarters to produce the promised report as to the merits of the six hundred and twenty-five judgments obtained against the City during the last year. The Street Department, we have reason to believe, is laboring faithfully and with energy to bring out a complete statement as to all cases in the list which fall within its immediate supervision; but the work is one of immense drudgery and complexity, and the ordinary clerical force of the office is wholly inadequate to its accomplishment within the time during which the Legislature will still be in session. Would it not be well, then, for the acting Street Commissioner to give us such installments of his researches as are already prepared, so that the Legislature may have some further definite information to form its opinion on before our tax levy for the current year is irrevocably sealed?

The influences at work to delay this report are numerous, well organized, and powerful. Men high in office boast that those who venture to assail corruption are "only twisting a rope for their own necks;" and the immense extent of the plunder bargained for in these judgments, and its impartial division amongst the worst representatives of all political sects and factions, may undoubtedly be relied on to secure for its final confirmation a large, reckless and experienced army of lobby agents and public corruptionists, clamoring at the doors of both Houses in Albany, and bringing different arguments to bear upon different Members and Senators.

In particular the friends of Fernando Wood are naturally anxious to suppress the report of the Street Department, inasmuch as it is not the policy of "the retired statesman" interested, to have the pay-roll of his electioneering agents in the December of 1857 laid bare. We have knowledge that there is scarcely any one of the least prominence in local politics, who took an active part for Mr. Wood in the last mayoralty election, from Daniel Lynn upward, and from John Pettigrew downward, whose name will not be found figuring in this judgment-list for sums varying between one hundred and fifty dollars for the small fry who were appointed Street Inspectors under Charles Devlin, to the great master contractors of politics, who put in what are called the "big licks" of from five thousand to fifty thousand dollars a-piece, on contracts based upon fraud, and under which no work was ever done. During the two months preceding the December election of 1857, "street inspectorships, worth two dollars a day," must have been literally shovelled out by Charles Devlin, in obedience to the orders of Charles Devlin's master; and although these appointments were and are utterly illegal, and although no work, other than that of electioneering, was ever done on them, we find case after case on the judgment-rolls of all the Courts, with this significant announcement: "Judgment against the City by default."

It is of the last importance to the City that prompt action should be taken on these claims. The report of the Acting Street-Commissioner, on which we commented several weeks ago, was certainly strong enough and broad enough to be made the basis of some official action on the part of the Chief Magistrate charged, in the last resort, with the guardianship of this City's interests. The five heaviest cases on this judgment-list, having reference to the Street Department, were taken up in detail, analyzed, examined, and their utter illegality and fraud very forcibly exhibited. Statements were made in that official document directly tending to impeach the official good faith of the Corporation Counsel; and yet, from that day to this, neither from the officer criminated, nor from the Common Council to whom the report was made, nor from the Mayor, who is supposed to be the special guardian of the City's interests, have we heard one further word or whisper in reference to the corruptions charged and proved. What can be the motive for this apathy? Have we grown enamored of forgery and fraud, or have our tax-payers any real wish to subscribe one million of dollars to be divided among such claimants as John Pettigrew, Robert W. Lowber, George C. Harsin, Terrence Farley, Charles Devlin, Daniel Lynn, and the other notorious operators who figure at all figures from one hundred to two hundred and forty thousand dollars in this gigantic pay-roll of political corruption?

We insist that Mayor Tiemann, for his own sake, and for the sake of the City, should take early and decisive action in reference to an opening up and setting aside of these iniquitous claims. He, more than any one else, perhaps, is in possession of full evidence as to the infamies, legal and political, which the Legislature is now asked to indorse with its solemn and irrevocable sanction. That Legislature has called upon him for information in regard to the Tax Levy; and, should he continue silent any longer, it will take more than a mere assertion to relieve him from the charge of at least passive acquiescence in organized public rapine and spoliation. He has done well in being the first to initiate this investigation; let him do better, and earn the permanent gratitude of the City by seeing that the work is completed.

The Canadian Talk about Separation.—One of the Toronto journals—the Colonist—takes considerable umbrage at certain papers in the States—the New-York Times being specified as of the number—on account of the notice bestowed upon "some obscure village Solon" who has been "recommending actual rebellion against the new tariff;" and it takes occasion to aver, quite vehemently, that all talk of separation from England is empty noise. The Colonist may set its perturbed spirit at rest, so far as this journal is concerned. There is no danger whatever that the Times will ascribe undue importance to the outgivings of any Canadian Solon. A wordier, windier race of politicians is nowhere to be found. Our own are bad enough in these respects, but yield the palm to their provincial compatriots without a struggle.

There is another topic, concerning which our Toronto cotemporary is apparently afflicting itself unnecessarily. It seems to labor under the delusion that the politics and destiny of Canada are objects of solicitude on this side the St. Lawrence. It should assure itself, in regard to this point, that beyond that general good-will which should prevail between neighbors, our consideration for the affairs of Canada could not well be less than it is. We are by no means anxious, scarcely, indeed, willing, that annexation should take place either now or hereafter. That we desire pleasant and profitable relations—mutually so—of a commercial and social character, is true. But, at the same time, we are very little concerned about the question whether Canada shall declare her independence, as several of her members of Parliament have recently insisted she should do, or remain in colonial union with Great Britain, as her loyal Press and office-holders aver that she is bound to do till time shall be no more.

The Colonist, however, can hardly fail to perceive the decline of loyalty since 1837–8. What does it suppose would have been the fate at that period, of public men who should predict that "within five years Canada would be dissevered from the Empire," as by its own showing the Hon. James Morris, "the Brown-Dorion speaker of the Legislative Council," did, on Thursday last, in his place in Parliament; or that the people of Canada owed it to themselves to commence shaping their legislation with a view to independence, as the Hon. Mr Sicotte said in the Legislative Assembly a week or two since? The fact that leaders of the rebellion twenty years ago have since been prominent in the Government and in Parliament—the very men who were at that time obliged to fly their country—is not without significance. It may not, and does not, indicate any immediate change of the colonial relation, but it evinces an alteration of sentiment which papers like the Colonist take good care not to explain when averring that the attachment of the Canadians to the mother country is as strong as ever.

The Woman who Never Eats.—For a twelvemonth past Mrs. Hayes, of the town of Chester, Warren County, N. Y., has been made known to the public, through the medium of the Press, as a very wonderful woman. The community was certified that she had lived two years without eating. It was a very great marvel. But one greater could possibly be imagined, viz.: a woman who could live two years without talking. But in the absence of the latter phenomenon, all quid nuncs satisfied themselves with Mrs. Hayes. She was not only an inexplicable puzzle, but an out-and-out miracle. Much of her time was spent in a state of trance. She talked much of God and religion, and set herself up for a prophetess. Her sustentation she did not fail to attribute to the direct agency of the Almighty in attestation of her supernatural mission. Those about her were awe-struck. Physicians certified to her absolute abstinence, and committees testified that they had watched her week in and week out, the result being their positive certainty that she ate nothing. Thousands of people flocked to see her, and went away with the settled conviction that there existed neither motive nor possibility of deception. The witnesses of her condition were respectable and trustworthy. Who could disbelieve them? Who could suppose that the Prophetess would herself deceive? The idea was preposterous. What could a woman away up in Warren County, among the everlasting Adirondacks, gain by cheating people about the matter of her bread and butter? The thing was out of the question. Did any sceptic ask how she could live so long without food, he was informed that she did so live, and was not that enough? At length, however, this impressive dispensation came to an end. A Committee was found of little faith. Mrs. Hayes had sent many previous Committees from her presence, after long and patient watching, filled with astonishment and conviction. Consequently her confidence waxed strong. She desired never to be without a Committee to observe her case, and testify of her miraculous preservation. The other day six gentlemen were summoned to her bedside for that purpose, who were to remain with her, two at a time, day and night, for twenty-one days, when, as she informed them, a great and miraculous change would take place in her condition.

A change, great, but not miraculous, occurred in less time. Her watchers caught her in the act of eating. In fact they saw her regaling herself on meat and crackers!

It is unnecessary to say what followed. The explosion of the imposture could not be deferred. Certificates, testimonials and facts all blew up together.

There is a strong likeness to be observed throughout the whole family of impostures. Whenever an impossible humbug is proposed as an excuse of the public credulity, any one who ventures to suggest a doubt is put down by facts. There are hosts who have seen every miracle, with their own eyes. To question the phenomena is to impeach their veracity. Do you suggest the impossibility, for example, of a table dancing the polka with a chair, you are put down by a shower of facts. A dozen respectable individuals tell you they saw it.

The truth is that in all such cases there is nothing so unreliable as facts. The facts adduced are not facts at all. Whether those who assert them believed their own statements is a question hardly worth deciding. If they do, they are to be pitied. What became of all the facts in the case of Mrs. Hayes? Dissipated in an instant by the apparition of crackers and cold corned beef.

The Mock-Auction Business.—We should like to know from some competent authority whether the mock-auction business is a legal calling or not. It is carried on openly, and without any attempt at concealment, and cases are constantly occurring in which complaints are made against them by their victims. On Saturday two or three parties, doing business in Park-row, were arraigned for swindling a gentleman from Rhode Island. The report of the proceedings says:

> "Complaint was made to the Mayor, the parties arrested by Officers Smith and Gardiner, taken before the City Hall Police Court, and compelled to disgorge the full amount. The Court further told them that he would keep track of them in future, and took down their names, residences, and the part each one had been accustomed to play in the business, for future reference."

Now we cannot understand this case at all. The accused were "compelled to disgorge," and were solemnly warned against repeating their misconduct. This would seem to imply that they had been acting wrongfully and illegally, and had consequently rendered themselves liable to punishment. But, if this were so, why were they not punished? If the Court had a right to go so far, why had it not a right to go further?

There is something defective in our laws about this species of swindling, or else in the manner in which they are executed. The statute is very clear and stringent against false pretences. A man who obtains credit with a merchant on the strength of representations concerning his property which prove to be false, is convicted of an offence and punished without difficulty. Certainly selling a brass watch under the pretence that it is gold, is a case of false pretences, and ought to be easily punishable as such. When three or four parties combine to effect such a sale,—one pretending to be a disinterested spectator, another a jeweler, &c., it would seem to be a very clear case of conspiracy to defraud. Yet these transactions are never treated in this way when complaints are made. The accused parties are "compelled to disgorge" sometimes, but that is all.

Undoubtedly the swindlers engaged in this business exercise great ingenuity in evading the law, and are generally prepared to aid one another to any desired extent by needful swearing. But where the general character of their pursuits is so well known, the technicalities of the law ought not to be allowed to protect them from whatever penalties they may have incurred; and if there is any lack of law applicable to their cases, the defect should be forthwith supplied.

The Right of Search Again.—The Herald has been favored with a piece of exclusive intelligence from the Executive departments at Washington. It announces, with a great flourish of trumpets, that in regard to the disputed right of search, "the French Government have stepped in and submitted a projét to the English Government which our Government have adopted, and which will probably settle the vexed question. It has not yet been made public." So far as this is new, it probably is not true. So far as it is true, it certainly is not new. In the debate which took place in the House of Lords on the 14th of February, which was reported in our columns on March 2, the Earl of Malmesbury stated that the English Government proposed to establish a code of instructions for the cruisers of both countries which should be identical, and which should guarantee any officer acting within their scope from blame. He also said that they thought it not unwise to invite the French Government to join them in pursuing that course; and he added:

> "It was, however, as your lordships must be perfectly well aware, more easy to propose such a scheme than to put it into execution. A considerable time, therefore, has elapsed during which the highest authorities of the French navy, as well as of our own, have been employed in considering this matter; but the result, I am happy to say, has been that the Governments of both countries have agreed upon a code of instructions which are identical, and that that code has been submitted to the American Cabinet, with an invitation to them to join with us in its adoption."

This is the projét which, as the Herald has just discovered, has been submitted to our Government. The fact of that submission, and the nature of the projét itself were published in our columns a month ago.

The Herald now says that it has been adopted by our Government. This part of the despatch is new. But we do not believe it is true.

Restoring the Cat in the State Prisons—A few years ago the use of the whip in our State Prisons was prohibited by law. It is now likely to be restored. On Friday the bill codifying and amending the State Prison Laws passed the Assembly by a vote of 74 Yeas, to 14 Nays, and is regarded as likely to become a law. It contains a provision, inserted since the recent rebellion at Auburn, giving the officers of the Prisons discretionary powers in respect to the mode of punishing convicts,—in other words, permitting them to use the whip when, in their judgment, it may be advisable.

There is a special public odium attaching to the cat as an instrument for punishment. It is regarded not only as cruel, but even as degrading to convicts. But experience appears to militate against this sentiment. Those who are charged with the control of the prisons find government more difficult in the absence of the whip. They express doubts whether anything is gained on the score of humanity, even, by its disuse. The substitutes, backing, yoking, and the shower-bath are all liable to strong objection; while the laxity of discipline which has of late prevailed has made it necessary to use the musket. Influenced by these and such like considerations, the Legislature seems disposed to fall back upon the old system.

Doubtless the matter is surrounded to a degree with difficulties, and practical men must be better qualified to form an opinion than mere theorists. The system of moral suasion is beautiful and excellent wherever it will work. But unfortunately human nature, in some of its developments, will submit to nothing short of force, and certainly the most pliable materials are not to be looked for in our State Prisons.

A Kentucky Community Justifying Assassination.—The brutal murder of Thomas S. Lowe by a mob at Hawesville, Ky., has been made the subject of comment in various quarters and the conduct of the assassins who were guilty of the murder of Mr. Lowe while he was defenceless, has been severely criticised. The citizens of Hawesville have felt themselves called upon to publish an elaborate justification of the act. A long document signed by John Sterrett, W. P. D. Bush, Robert L. Boyd, and many others, appears in the Louisville Journal, going to show the sentiment that actuated these "citizens of Hancock County" in the murder of Mr. Lowe. The defence brings up a long list of charges against Lowe, paints his life in very dismal colors, recounts acts of violence which he is alleged to have committed, and winds up with the statement that he was "an habitual violator of law, and a constant disturber of the peace and quietude of the community." The murder of Lowe in the jail at Hawesville is justified by these "citizens of Hancock County," on the ground that he had threatened the lives of certain parties against whom he entertained a grudge. The deed is recorded by the Kentucky gentlemen in a crisp paragraph, which tells of a cold-blooded murder in a very cold-blooded style:

> "After these threats were made known to them, two of those threatened proceeded, without concealment, and in presence of hundreds of people, to the jail and demanded the keys of the jailor, and compelled him to open the door of the cell in which the deceased was confined, and thereupon the reports of pistols were heard in the prison, and the deceased was found immediately afterwards a lifeless corpse."

We do not learn that the other citizens of Kentucky express disapprobation of the murder, or that the gentlemen who "demanded the keys of the Jailor" have been held to account.

The Mexican Legation at Washington—The Washington States says that "Mexico has no legation" at Washington at present,—that "Robles, the late Minister, who is now acting Lieutenant-Colonel of artillery under Miramon, left a few servants here in charge of his furniture." As Washington journalists are not expected to know anything that occurs in their own city, except as they learn it from the New-York papers, we shall probably render the States an essential service by informing it that when Gen. Don Manuel Robles left Washington for Mexico he placed the legation in charge of Don Gregorio Barandiaran (Secretary of Legation) as Chargé d'Affaires, who has remained there all the time at the Legation, and is in correspondence with Robles and others in Mexico—and is regularly telegraphed from New-Orleans by the Mexican Consul at that place. Mr. Barandiaran was married about a year ago to the daughter of Señor Cavalcanti de Albuquerque, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from Brazil. The lady will be surprised to learn from the States that she was marrying one of the "few servants" left behind him by Gen. Robles.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

TESTIMONIAL TO MR. GIDDINGS.—There was a very large and enthusiastic meeting of the colored people of New-York and Brooklyn, last evening, at the Shiloh Presbyterian Church, for the purpose of doing honor to JOSHUA R. GIDDINGS, and of presenting to him a testimonial for his long and consistent defence of the rights of the colored men in the halls of Congress. Notwithstanding there was a small fee charged for admission, the house was filled, and many went away unable to procure seats or standing room. The Rev. Dr. CHEEVER opened the meeting with prayer, in which he alluded to the declaration put forth by the Supreme Court that colored men had no rights which a white man was bound to respect. A song composed by Mr. GARRISON—"I am an Abolitionist, I glory in the name"—was sung by the choir to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne," under the lead of Mr. E. DIAS. Mr. ZUILLE moved a preamble and resolution expressing confidence in the Hon. JOSHUA R. GIDDINGS, which were unanimously adopted. The Rev. Mr. GARNETT then addressed the audience, commenting upon the course pursued for so many years in Congress by Mr. GIDDINGS, and concluded by presenting a handsome gold watch, the material of which he said was dug by free hands from the soil of California, and manufactured by the free hands of the American Watch Company of Waltham, in the free State of Massachusetts. He also presented to him an elegantly bound Bible, as the gift of the Giddings and Jeliffe Associations, saying as he handed him the book—"this is the testimony of the living God against Slavery." Mr. GIDDINGS was then introduced, and was received with prolonged cheers by the audience. He spoke at considerable length, mainly urging upon the colored people to educate their children in the love of liberty, and to prepare themselves to resist unto death, if need be, the attempt which was now being made to subjugate and enslave them. The decision of the Supreme Court was a declaration of war against them as a race—not against the slaves. His remarks were frequently applauded. At the close, Mr. CHEEVER made a short address, and the meeting adjourned.

SUICIDE OF AN AUCTIONEER.—DAVID S. CONDIT, an auctioneer doing business at No. 59 Maiden-lane, was found dead in his bed at Moss' Hotel, corner of Bowery and Bayard-street, yesterday afternoon. It appears that the deceased, who resided at the above hotel, did not appear at the breakfast table yesterday morning as usual, and the chambermaid, on attempting to enter his room, found it locked. In the afternoon she made a second attempt, and finding the door still locked she looked through the keyhole, when she saw the hand of deceased covered with blood. The proprietor was informed of the fact, when the room was broken open and the deceased was found to have committed suicide by opening an artery under the knee-joint with a penknife, and bleeding to death. The following paper was found in the room: "This world is bright and beautiful to me, but my prospects are blighted. I can see no object in living; I am not guilty of any crimes against God, but die an innocent man, by my own hand, for which act may God forgive me. DAVID S. CONDIT." On the reverse side of the paper was the following: "By enemies I have been driven to desperation. I die an innocent man." Coroner JACKMAN held an inquest upon the body of the deceased, and a verdict was rendered in accordance with the above facts. Deceased was an assignee of WM. B. REYNOLDS, contractor for cleaning thirteen Wards of the City, and it is thought that the failure to get his claim allowed may have had something to do with the causes of his self-destruction. His age was about 45 years.

DELIBERATE ATTEMPT TO MURDER.—About 8½ o'clock last evening a man who gave the name of JOHN JENNINGS was arrested by Officers POLHAMUS and LAWRENCE, on a charge of attempting to kill a well-known sporting character, named HARRY JENNINGS, whom he said was his brother. It seems that on last Thursday HARRY and himself quarreled in regard to the conduct of a young barkeeper named SHEA, employed by HARRY at his house No. 49 Madison-street, and JOHN said if the boy was not discharged, he would quit. HARRY refused to discharge the boy, and JOHN, in revenge, gave the boy a severe beating. This led to a war of words, and JOHN was heard to say that either the boy or himself would be compelled to leave the place. Last evening, about 8½ o'clock, as HARRY was conversing with Deputy-Sheriff HOMER, of Brooklyn, in the bar-room at No. 49 Madison-street, JOHN stepped up, and, without saying a word, presented a double-barreled pistol at the breast of HARRY and fired. One ball struck the collar-bone and glanced, when HARRY put up his left hand to defend himself, and the other ball shattered the hand. The would-be murderer was arrested, and confessed he intended to murder HARRY, and bought the pistol for that purpose. HARRY denied that he was his brother. The assaulted man is well known as the owner of Kerrigan's Hall, in White-street, and No. 49 Madison-street, both sporting houses.

THE SHOOTING AFFRAY AT A BOWERY SALOON.—INQUEST ON THE BODY OF STURGIS.—Coroner JACKMAN yesterday held an inquest at the City Hospital upon the body of CHAS. STURGIS, who died on Sunday from the effects of a pistol shot wound received on Friday morning last at the coffee and cake saloon No. 36 Bowery. Several witnesses were examined, among them Alderman SEAGRIST, who happened to be in the saloon at the time, but their evidence only proved that the deceased came into the saloon in company with a man named KERRIGAN, and after washing himself, went into the kitchen, saying he was going to have some fun with the baker; that soon after he entered the kitchen the report of a pistol was heard, and the deceased came running out of the saloon crying "I am shot." The only persons who witnessed the affray were a servant girl named MCARTHY and a boy named VINCENT, who were in the kitchen at the time. The following is the testimony of the girl:

Fanny McArthy sworn—I am a domestic in the employ of Mr. PFROMER, residing at No. 36 Bowery; the man who was shot came into the saloon with a friend about half-past twelve o'clock last Friday morning; he had his supper in the saloon previous to this, that night; he came to the kitchen door, which was bolted; I had some plates in my hand; he said if the door was not opened he would break it open; seeing he was so cross I opened the door; he said he wanted to get in to lick the baker; I thought he was joking, otherwise I would not have let him in; he went towards the baker (the prisoner PFROMER) and caught him by the shoulder and slung him round, saying he wanted to lick him; the baker said that would not do, and wanted him to go out of the kitchen; he told him to go out several times; the prisoner finally caught hold of deceased and put him out of the kitchen; he then closed the door on the deceased; the deceased in a short time came right into the kitchen again, and said he was going to lick the baker and no one else; he then caught the prisoner a second time, and commenced knocking him about the shoulder; he carried on so for about three minutes; the baker told him that was not the place for him; that he was interrupting him at his business, but the deceased would not go out; there is a small room at the back of the kitchen; the prisoner went in there and the deceased followed him; presently both came into the kitchen together, the prisoner having a pistol in his hands, and telling the deceased to keep back; he then fired at the deceased, telling him to stand back, which he would not do; he only fired once; I was standing so near at the time that I received a little of the powder in my face; the prisoner went into the room for the pistol deliberately, not seeming to be in a passion; but it is his manner not to do anything hastily, so that he might be in a passion and not show it; after the firing of the pistol the man who was shot remained in the kitchen a little time rubbing himself over the chest, saying he was shot, or killed, or something to that effect; I did not think the pistol was loaded; I have seen a pistol with the prisoner before; [a pistol shown the witness;] I do not know whether this is the pistol or not; after he was shot he went into the saloon and threw up some blood; deceased was in the habit of coming into the saloon every night while I was there; he took supper there; I never saw him in the kitchen before.

Question—By a Juror—Were there any blows given previous to the firing of the pistol? Answer—Not to my knowledge.

I do not know whether the deceased and the prisoner had any quarrel before that night or not; the prisoner was standing at the door leading from the kitchen to the small room when he fired; there was a little boy in the kitchen also.

The testimony of the boy did not differ materially from the above. He stated that no blows were struck previous to the shooting, and that he supposed the parties were fooling—that the deceased had frequently fooled with him in the same way, and no objection was made to it by PFROMER.

At the close of the testimony the Jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death from a pistol shot wound at the hands of JOHN D. PFROMER. The prisoner, who is a German, 27 years years of age, was committed to await the action of the Grand Jury.

FIRE IN FRONT-STREET.—A fire broke out at 9 o'clock last evening in the extensive mahogany steam sawing-mill of HAWES, GRAHAM & CO., No. 310 Front-street, and extending through to No. 382 South-street. The flames when first discovered were bursting out from the direction of the boiler of the steam engine on the first floor. The fire soon extended to the pattern shop of the Faron Iron Works adjoining which was totally destroyed. The loss of HAWES, GRAHAM & CO. is about $1,500; insured. The loss of the Iron Works is about $2,500, and said to be insured.

SUPPOSED FATAL AFFRAY IN THE SIXTH WARD—Last night, at 11½ o'clock, a fight occurred at the grocery store of WM. BUCKLEMANN, at the corner of Baxter and Park streets. The statement of witnesses was to the effect that MARTIN GALLAGHER entered the place and called for liquor, which was refused; and he then struck BUCKLEMANN in the face, when the latter seized a large cheese knife and stabbed GALLAGHER in the stomach, inflicting a very serious wound, which will, perhaps, prove fatal. The wounded man was taken to the Hospital, and BUCKLEMANN was arrested and locked up.

LECTURE FOR THE FIREMEN'S FUND—The Hon. J. B. SCOLES delivered his lecture last evening at the Cooper Institute, on behalf of the Widow and Orphan's fund of the New-York Fire Department. The meeting was not large, the firemen not generally attending. The oration was upon the "Birth and Development of the Republic," and embraced a recital of the early struggles for Independence, and the present prosperous and expanded condition of the country.

The Convention of Irish Societies assembled at Hibernian Hall, No. 42 Prince-street, last evening, and, after the transaction of some financial business proceeded to an election of officers for the ensuing year, which resulted in the selection of Messrs. JAMES SANDFORD for President, ED. L. CAREY for Vice-President, JAS. O'CONNOR FARB for Secretary, A. KELLY for Assistant Secretary, and JOHN WINNE for Treasurer.

THE ALLEGED BRUTAL TREATMENT BY POLICEMEN.—Coroner JACKMAN yesterday received two anonymous letters, giving the names and residences of persons who are alleged to have witnessed the beating, by two Sixth Ward policemen, of BERNARD KERRIGAN, on Thursday night last, which resulted in the death of KERRIGAN on Saturday. The investigation of the case will be resumed by the Coroner this afternoon, when it is expected that new facts will be developed.

THE FIGHT BETWEEN THE TWO FIRE COMPANIES.—We are requested to state that none of the members of Lady Washington Company No. 40, lately disbanded, were engaged in the fight between the two companies at the alarm of fire in the Fourth District on Sunday evening.

DEATH BY FALLING DOWN STAIRS.—An Englishman named RILEY, 50 years of age, was killed yesterday by falling down stairs at his residence, No. 58 Baxter-street, while in a state of intoxication. An inquest was held by Coroner O'KEEFE, and a verdict of accidental death rendered.

MUNICIPAL.

Board of Aldermen.

UNSETTLED ACCOUNTS—COMMUNICATION FROM THE COMPTROLLER—THE STEAM FIRE ENGINES—PIERS AND SLIPS—ASSESSMENTS FOR WIDENING DUANE AND READE STREETS—EXTRA CLERKS FOR THE STREET COMMISSIONER, &C.

The Board of Aldermen met last evening at 5 o'clock; in the absence of the President, Alderman BRADLEY being in the chair. Among the petitions referred was one from the property-owners and residents in the vicinity of Clinton Market to have the dépôt removed and set apart as a market; and one from the property-owners and residents on Twelfth and Troy streets, asking that both streets be united in one and called West Twelfth-street, and that the same be renumbered.

The following communication from the Comptroller was received, and 500 copies thereof ordered to be printed in document form:

CITY OF NEW-YORK, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE, }
COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, March 28, 1859. }

Gentlemen of the Common Council:

The Comptroller begs leave respectfully to inform your Honorable Bodies of the measures adopted and course pursued by him since his accession to office, in relation to the books and accounts pertaining to the fiscal affairs of the Corporation.

Owing to the confusion found to exist, it was deemed advisable to open an entire new set of books in this Department, and requisition was accordingly made for such books as were considered necessary, which have since been received. A circular (No. 1) was prepared, and copies thereof addressed to the several officers of the Corporation, calling for information substantially as follows: 1. In regard to the books and accounts kept by them respectively. 2. What periodical or occasional return or reports have heretofore been made; by and to whom made. 3. Requested suggestions in regard to any improvements in the methods of conducting the business of the Corporation and keeping the accounts thereof. 4. Directing that no change should be made in the forms of keeping and rendering the City accounts until prescribed by this Department.

A copy of said circular is herewith submitted.

The Comptroller is happy in being able to report to your Honorable Bodies that prompt and very satisfactory replies were duly received from the various Corporation Officers to whom his circular No. 1 was addressed in respect to the accounts kept and rendered by them.

In order to obtain proper starting points for the various accounts of Revenue and Income, the Receiver of Taxes, the Collector of Assessments, the Clerk of Arrears, and the Collector of City Revenue were severally called upon for statements in detail of the amounts due the Corporation, and in their hands respectively for collection at the commencement of the present fiscal year. The Receiver of Taxes having completed his account of the taxes and arrears of Croton Water Rents remaining uncollected, transmitted a statement thereof some days since, and has, also, prepared, in compliance with directions from this office, a duplicate set of the tax books, showing in detail all the items of such taxes and Croton Water Rents, which is all that is necessary for opening the proper accounts of this branch of business.

The amount of taxes and arrears of Croton Water Rent, uncollected on 1st January, 1859, in charge of the Receiver of Taxes, was as follows:

Taxes on Real Estate of the year 1858..........	$978,056 04
Taxes on Personal Estate of the year 1858.....	258,472 39
Taxes on Personal Estate for the years 1843 to 1857, both inclusive..............	1,486,176 87
Arrears of Croton Water Rents for year 1857..	35,908 29
Total..............	$2,758 613 59

It is supposed that a large proportion of the amount of personal taxes in arrear will never be collected.

The Receiver of Taxes makes daily reports, showing in detail the amounts collected by him, names of persons from whom collected, amount of tax and amount of interest. He also pays over to the County Treasurer daily the money collected for taxes, and to the Chamberlain the money received on account of arrears of Croton Water Rents, for which he takes receipts in duplicate, copies of which are filed with the Comptroller. These daily reports of collections are carefully examined and compared with the duplicate Tax Books, before mentioned, and the interest calculations are also examined, and all errors and discrepancies discovered therein are corrected before they are filed, and the entries thereof made.

The Deputy and acting Street Commissioner has furnished a statement of the amount apparently due to the Corporation upon the various assessment lists in the hands of the Collector of Assessments on 1st of January, a copy of which is hereto appended.

The amount represented to be due upon assessments for opening Central Park and the Bowery extension, to be credited to the "Assessment Fund," is........................	$646,109 60
The amount reported to be due upon assessment lists for various street and other improvements, to be credited to "Assessments Confirmed," is...........	394 626 86
Total........................	$1,040,746 46

A detailed account of the items due upon each of these lists has been called for, and the Comptroller hopes to receive the same soon. It is proposed to have copies of all assessment lists taken in books, to be kept for that purpose in the Auditing Bureau, and to take receipts from the Collector of Assessments for all lists sent to him for collection, the amounts thereof to be duly charged to him in the books kept in the Comptroller's office. In order to examine the accounts of collections by the Collector of Assessments, it is required that reports in detail of such collections, showing full particulars thereof, including interest calculations, &c., shall be rendered by him daily to the Comptroller. It is also proposed that the Collector shall be required to pay over the moneys received by him and the Deputy Collectors each day, instead of retaining the same for several days, according to the present practice.

The Clerk of Arrears has not yet fully completed the account of all the items of taxes and assessments in his hands on 1st January, but has engaged upon it all the clerical force at his disposal, and it is expected to be finished very soon.

The amounts due for rents outstanding, and interest on bonds and mortgages in the hands of the Collector of City Revenue, has already been reported to your Honorable Bodies. (See Document No. 15, of the Board of Aldermen, pages 11 to 19, inclusive.)

The Clerk of Arrears, who formerly made his returns and paid over to the Chamberlain his collections weekly, now makes daily reports and also pays over all moneys collected by him daily.

The Deputy Collectors of the City revenue, who have charge of the collections of market rents and fees, have heretofore paid over their collections weekly, but from and after 1st of April they will be required to make daily returns, and the collector of City revenue will also pay over to the Chamberlain daily all money received by him.

The Comptroller is happy to state that he hopes to be able before long to get all the accounts of the corporation in satisfactory condition, so far as it respects the current business and also be prepared to undertake the adjustment of all such old matters as may require his attention.

Respectfully submitted,
ROBERT T. HAWS, Comptroller.

A communication was received from the Mayor, vetoing a resolution to lay a crosswalk in Fifteenth-street, because it was not accompanied by the necessary ordinance to create a lien on the property.

In reply to a resolution calling upon him to report what arrangements had been made to properly manage the Steam Fire Engines owned by the City, and the probable expense of them per annum, the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department replied that, during the Winter one of them was placed in charge of the Exempt Engine Company, that he immediately furnished the necessary hose, fuel, &c.; that an engineer and two assistants were employed to take charge of the engine, whom he believes are still on duty, but that he has no means of knowing what the expense of keeping the engine has been, as he did not employ the men, nor was he consulted in the matter. He understood the Fire Insurance Companies agreed to become responsible for the pay of these men. He recommended that an ordinance be adopted governing these engines. The communication was referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

A communication was received from the Street Commissioner stating that he had been notified by the Comptroller that the lessees of many of the Piers and Slips are demanding deductions from their rents on the ground that the Slips are not dredged to the proper depth. Therefore he requested authority to cause estimates to be made in the following instances and to advertise for proposals to do the work by contract in all cases where the estimated expense will not exceed $250 for any one job, viz.: Piers Nos. 43, 46, 48 and 53; Slips foot of Delancy and Rivington streets, East River. Piers Nos. 14, 20, 29, 46, 47 and 48, foot of Twenty-sixth and Twenty-Eighth streets; Bulkhead foot of Fourteenth-street, North River. Alderman BOOLE offered a resolution granting the necessary power. Both papers were referred to the Committee on Wharves, Piers and Slips.

The Street Commissioner reported that the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment have assessed upon the City the following amounts: In the matter of widening Duane-street from Broadway to Chatham-street, $37,091 66; and in the matter of widening Reade-street from Broadway to Centre-street and extending the same from Centre-street to Chatham-street, $34,000. Referred to the Committee on Assessments.

The Street Commissioner applied for power to employ the extra clerks for not more than three months, at a rate not to exceed $100 per month, to furnish the Comptroller copies of all the uncollected items of assessment on the 1st of January, 1859, which he needs in order to prepare suitable books for accounts. Referred to the Committee on Salaries and Offices.

A report in favor of empowering the Comptroller to hire rooms for the First District Court at $2,500 per annum created some discussion and a little confusion. Finally the whole matter was laid on the table. After receiving and referring papers from the Board of Councilmen the Board adjourned till Thursday.

Board of Councilmen.

LICENSE LAW—CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY—CITY INSPECTOR.

The Board met last evening, President CORNELL in the Chair. A large number of reports were presented and laid over for future action.

The resolutions from the Board of Aldermen urging the passage of an act introduced into the State Legislature by Senator Johnson, to suppress intemperance and to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors, came up for concurrence. On motion of Councilman OTTARSON, the words "members of the Board of Councilmen from each Senatorial District" were inserted in the resolutions in the place of the words "members of the Board of Aldermen," as the latter did not represent the Senatorial Districts. The resolutions were then adopted.

The report of the Committee on Fire Department of the Board of Aldermen authorizing the Street Commissioner to advertise for a new fire alarm bell for the bell tower in Yorkville, was concurred in.

The report of the Committee on Finance in favor of making a donation of $1,000 to the Children's Aid Society was amended by substituting $1,500 in the place of $1,000, and was then adopted.

An amendment to the ordinance regulating the City Inspector's Department was offered by Councilman FREAR. It directs that the Superintendent of Sanitary Inspection shall discharge the duties of the City Inspector whenever that official may be prevented from discharging his duties by sickness, or whenever the office may be rendered vacant by death. The amendment was laid over and ordered to be printed in the minutes. Some unimportant papers were acted one and the Board adjourned.

Board of Supervisors.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors, yesterday, a bill of Norman McLeod, amounting to $491 60 for supplies furnished to Eldridge-street Jail during the month of February, 1859, was referred. A report of the Committee on Stationary in favor of paying the bill of Danforth, Perkins & Co., amounting to $295 12, for engraving warrants for the County Bureau, was adopted. The Committee on County Offices reported in favor of paying Wm. Jay Haskett $150, as his salary for fifty days' services in 1858 as Excise Commissioner, and $200 for office rent for the commission, making a total of $350.

Mr. KENNEDY remarked that if the commission could not realize enough to pay its own expenses it had better be abolished. There was an understanding among the Commissioners to meet at Mr. HASKETT'S office for his own convenience, and that the County should not be charged anything for office rent.

Mr. TWEED said that last year the sum of $200 was allowed for office hire. These facts, however, were entirely new to the Committee, and he asked that the report be recommitted. The paper took that course.

A report was adopted, placing $50, subject to the order of the Treasurer of the Police Commissioners, to be used in procuring material wherewith to clothe destitute witnesses now remaining in the House of Detention in White-street. The Board then adjourned till next Monday.

A Personal Explanation.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

DEAR SIR: I noticed a paragraph in your paper of the 9th inst., in which it is alleged that I induced one ASHER DANLEY to steal a valuable stallion from the stable of JOSEPH M. MUIR, of Chatham, Union County, N. J., and that on my arrest I stated that I had bought the horse of ASHER DANLEY for $60 and ten gallons of rum.

As to this statement, I have to say, that although I was deceived by said DANLEY'S open representations made at the supper-table, and in presence of certain persons, which representations will fully appear on the trial, yet, in the opinion of my friends and counsel, I exercised common prudence in the premises.

As to the second statement in said paragraph contained, I deny it altogether, and refer to Mr. J. HALSEY SNYDER'S note appended below in support of said denial. The horse and buggy were hired by me of Mr. SNYDER without reference to time; I having known Mr. SNYDER for years, and been constantly in the habit of hiring horses from him. Doubtless this allegation had its foundation in the fact that ASHER DANLEY offered said horse and buggy for sale, without my knowledge or consent; but was fortunately unable to dispose of the same, and involve me in still greater difficulties.

By giving the above an insertion in your columns, you will render justice to me, and correct whatever erroneous opinion my friends may have formed by a perusal of the article referred to. Yours, DANIEL FRENCH.

I have known Mr. FRENCH some time;—the statement referred to above is correct. J. HALSEY SNYDER.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

BROOKLYN COMMON COUNCIL.—A regular meeting of this body was held last evening. A communication was received from the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, nominating EDMUND DRIGGS, JOHN BROACH and THOMAS COTREL to act with them to adjust, compromise and settle all liabilities and claims now existing in favor of parties against the late village or city of Williamsburgh for local improvements therein. The communication was laid on the table. Under the special order the reports of the Gas Committee were called up and the majority report was adopted, with the following resolutions attached:

Resolved, That this Common Council do hereby grant and give permission to the Citizens' Gas Company to use so much of the streets, lanes, avenues, places, &c., of the city of Brooklyn as shall be necessary to lay down gas mains, pipes, feeders and other apparatus for the purpose of supplying the citizens with gas, upon their filing a bond, approved by the Mayor, with the City Clerk, in the amount of $50,000, to indemnify the city against any damage that may arise in consequence of the removing of the pavements in the prosecution of their business; also, as surety that all excavations made will be replaced in the best possible manner, and with all possible dispatch.

Resolved, That it is expressly understood that the Common Council reserves the right to, and do hereby, declare this privilege null and void, in case said Company do not commence operations within one year, and also in case they shall attempt to sell such right to any other company, person or corporation.

The Law Committee reported in favor of reducing the number of Police Magistrates by uniting two of the Districts in the eastern part of the city. The report was laid on the table. The contract for printing and stationery was called up and awarded to JONES & CO. A communication from the Commissioner of Repairs and Supplies, naming the polling places for Tuesday next, was received and adopted.

A SCENE NOT IN THE BILLS.—Mrs. CORA HATCH lectured in Musical Hall Sunday afternoon. At the close of the exercises her husband approached her and insisted that she should accompany him. This she declined to do, and escaped to a dressing room near the stage. Several male friends here interfered and attempted to prevent Mr. HATCH from following, but he forced his way into the room and seized his wife. She resisted, when the bystanders held HATCH until his wife made her exit from the building.

WARD MEETING.—The Republicans of the Third Ward held a meeting and selected the following candidates by ballot: For Alderman—CHARLES JENKINS. For Supervisor—JOHN J. STUDWELL. For Constable—THOMAS LOPER. A resolution was unanimously adopted thanking Alderman PIERSON for the able manner in which he had discharged his duties.

POLITICAL.—The Opposition at Greenpoint (Seventeenth Ward) have made the following nominations: For Alderman—TIMOTHY PERRY. For Supervisor—JOHN T. WILLIAMS. For Constable—FREDERICK J. PURSER.

INTERESTING TO BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS—SUPREME COURT—BEFORE NATHAN B. MORSE, ESQ., REFEREE—Solomon Dean vs. The Franklin Building Association.—The plaintiff brings suit to recover money paid to defendants, after withdrawing, in accordance with the following section of the articles of association: "When, by reason of sickness or removal from the City, or, through misfortune, any member is unable to continue the payment of his subscription to the Society, he or she may give notice to the Secretary of an intention to withdraw from the Association; and in case the Board of Trustees are satisfied as to the grounds of withdrawal, the whole amount of subscription paid by the party into the Association shall be returned." The defence set up was that the section quoted was void, inasmuch as it conflicted with a section under which the Association is organized, which provides that "no dividend of principal or of profits shall be made until the debts are all provided for;" that such was not the condition of the Association, and that the plaintiff had not really, in fact, withdrawn from the Association. The plaintiff proved that in May, 1856, he was in embarrassed circumstances, and unable to pay the dues; that he handed his book to the Secretary, and told him his situation, and that he wanted to withdraw—at the same time paying up all dues. He was told that he could have his money in one year. At the expiration of the year he applied, and was put off for the time, and at the end of a month plaintiff was informed that he could not be paid off, because a resolution had been adopted not to pay out any more money. The books of the Association showed that plaintiff had given notice of his withdrawal, but no action had been taken thereon—and that the debts of the Association had not been paid or provided for. The Referee decided in favor of plaintiff.

COURT CALENDARS.—City Court for this day.—Nos. 36, 43, 45, 46, 47, 49, 50, 52, 53, 12, 55, 57, 58, 6, 59, 6, 61. Circuit Court—Nos. 59, 77, 88, 100.

The San Francisco Vigilance Committee—A Card from James R. Molony.

To the Editor of the N. Y. Times:

The unexpected suspension of the case against the Treasurer of the San Francisco Vigilance Committee, in a manner which prevented me from going with its full merits before the public, induces me to ask for the first time the favor of your columns, for a word in answer to the many prejudicial notices which I have suffered from a part of the Press of this City during the last two years, and especially during the progress of this trial. I had hoped in instituting my complaint for the outrages perpetrated upon me in San Francisco, to vindicate myself before the impartial public of this City, by putting in testimony as to character and business from my childhood up; yet, although my character has been continually assailed by public organs of the Vigilance Committee combination at San Francisco, and throughout the country by republication of those attacks, yet on the trial they excluded my evidence in respect to my character, on the ground it was not assailed, and that no such proof could be introduced until it was assailed. I had patiently endured the repeated assaults made upon me in the papers, in connection with the San Francisco troubles, and have never once sought to forestall public opinion by publishing a single statement in my own behalf, after I had made my application to the laws.

I am sorry to say, however, that this course has not been imitated by the other side, and that in addition to the repeated attacks which preceded the trial in the columns of several journals, some even teemed with daily innuendoes and false statements while the case was going on. This would have been a matter of indifference to me, had I been allowed to vindicate myself fully on the trial, but that privilege having been denied on the ground I have stated, I now ask from your sense of justice the only redress which the rigid ruling of the Court has left in my power.

This redress will be in part afforded to me by your publication, in connection with this statement, of the following testimonial, which was voluntarily forwarded to me by several gentlemen, whom you will not fail to recognize as among the most distinguished citizens of California. I have only to add that my efforts to obtain justice through the Courts, against the immense combination of Vigilance Committee-men who are united against me, will not cease, because of the judgment of Judge DALY, from which I have appealed. The two and a half years during which I have steadily demanded justice are but the natural prologue of a continued effort, which will be inflexibly pursued until I am told by a tribunal, from which there can be no appeal, that the laws of my country afford no remedy for such injuries as those to which I have been subjected. Very respectfully yours,

JAMES R. MOLONY.

NEW-YORK, March 28, 1859.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14, 1856.

J. R. Molony, Esq., New-York City:

DEAR SIR: It has been suggested to us that the parties engaged in the recent outrages upon yourself and others in this city are attempting to justify their wrongs to you by blackening your reputation both here and in New-York. We wish to say to you, and for you, that having known you for years past as an honorable man and true friend, and a person altogether worthy of our esteem, and not having been able to learn, even from your enemies, so much as a specific accusation affecting your reputation, that you still have our friendly regards and our best wishes for your happiness and prosperity.

Yours, truly.

WHAT IS AMERICAN SOLIDIFIED MILK?

The following distinguished physicians, a Committee of the New-York Academy of Medicine, have answered this as follows:

"The American Solidified Milk has been fully subjected to our critical examination; we have traced the milk of the rich pasturage of Dutchess County, from the udder to its final conversion into solidified milk, and we find it to be nothing but the solid constituents of pure milk, combined with a little less than an equal part, by weight, of white sugar; that it contains no other foreign substance; that the various solids of the original fluid are preserved intact, even the butter globules being unbroken; that it is readily and perfectly soluble in water, and when it is so dissolved in proper proportion, it is in fact milk, as it was secreted by the cow, with the sole exception of the sugar which accompanies it; that the only medicinal or culinary operations in which ordinary milk is required and this article cannot be used, are those in which sugar is inadmissible; while on the other hand, whenever sugar is required in connection with milk they are here found together:

CATARRH! CATARRH! CATARRH!
CATARRH. WHAT IS IT? HOW CURED?
Thousands of persons suffer all sorts of annoyance from Catarrh. Most people know what its inconvenience and results are, yet but few know how it can be cured. It is simply a chronic irritation and after enlargement of follicles, and consequent thickening of the mucous membrane lining the nasal cavities, frontal sinuses and posterior nares and sometimes extending into the throat and lungs. From this results tightness and often vertigo of the head, obstructed nose or profuse flow of mucus, loss of smell, nasal voice, and often impaired hearing and taste. The old-school remedies have never been able to do anything for it. Nasal injections and inhalations are as painful and expensive as they are generally worthless, yet HUMPHREYS' CATARRH SPECIFIC, a simple SUGAR PILL taken two or three times per day, promptly relieves the milder cases, cures at once all colds in the head, and radically cures by persevering use the most obstinate cases, as is proved by the experience of hundreds.
Price, with full directions, &c............50 cents per box

BUSINESS CHANCES.

PATENT FOR SALE.—WOLVIN'S VENTILATED VAULT AND PLATFORM LIGHT is now offered for sale, as the owner is not a mechanic. It possesses the following advantages over all other lights now used:

First—It admits a larger quantity of light and more equally diffuses it in the vault beneath. The surface is 25 per cent. more of glass than any light now used.

Second—The glass is stronger and less liable to break, deriving its great strength from the peculiar style of its setting, for which a patent has been obtained.

Third—The ventilator is upon a new principle of construction and carries off the vapors and exhalations which make vaults so damp and unhealthy, and frequently unfit for use, rendering them perfectly dry and suitable for the storage and exhibition of goods on sale; not only adapted for vaults, but roofs of buildings, side lights and decks of ships.

Fourth—Its cost is about one-third of the lights now in use. Apply to H. R. WARNER, No. 125 Worth-st.

POLITICAL HISTORY.

Mr. Jefferson and the Gun-boat System—The Reported Descent on Cuba.

COM. KEARNEY TO COM. STEWART.

WILLARD'S HOTEL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 22, 1859.

To Charles Stewart, Esq., Commodore:

In reading the speeches and comments made in relation to the acquisition of Cuba, I have been struck with the fact that no mention is made of the intention of Mr. JEFFERSON to make a descent upon that island before the war of 1812, and for this purpose had caused to be built a large number of gun-boats, afterwards so much ridiculed as useless. Nor do I now recollect ever having heard the true object which Mr. JEFFERSON had in view in his gun-boat system, except from yourself, if my memory serves me.

My object in writing at this time is to elicit from you a statement of your knowledge of the purpose of Mr. JEFFERSON in building those boats, as disclosed to you at that time by the President himself; and in order to be certain that I did not misunderstand you, I will endeavor to recall a subject of conversation we had some eight or nine years ago at the National Hotel, in this city.

You will remember that in the year 1807, shortly after the affair of the Chesapeake and Leopard frigates, many young men sought to obtain midshipmen's warrants in the Navy. Among the rest, your humble servant received one, and while expecting to be sent to sea in pursuit of an enemy, and in defence of the flag, so dear to every American boy, I was employed on board gun-boats in New-York harbor, not in guarding the shores of my native land, but exclusively engaged in the performance of a police duty under the non-intercourse and embargo acts, in "bringing to" and searching vessels of my own countrymen, while shutting the door of commerce in the face of England.

I well remember the rebukes this sort of service brought upon the gun-boat navy, and those engaged in it, and the epithets used in derision were in no ways choice that assailed, personally, us in those days.

I always thought that I had more than my share of that kind of duty imposed upon me, and that I had not a fair chance for distinction in the earlier years of my naval life.

On the occasion to which I allude, at the National Hotel, while in conversation with you, I was complaining of what I considered the unjust treatment that I had encountered, in being kept so long on duty in these gun-boats, at once irksome to me, and distasteful to the people, and the officers and men on board said boats; and I was condemning the whole gun-boat system from stem to stern as insufficient, and almost useless as a coast guard, or for offensive operations against an enemy, and was lamenting what I conceived to have been a total waste of the best years of my life in the Navy.

Now, my dear Commodore, it was on that occasion you told me the gunboats were not intended as a coast guard, nor for the usual purposes of naval warfare, but really intended for a descent on the Island of Cuba, with a view to its occupation or annexation to the United States; and at the same time you recalled to my mind a fact, that there were then some hundred and sixty or eighty gunboats in all built, and stationed along the coast from Maine to Georgia, apparently as a coast-guard, and that they were so stationed really with a view to deceive foreign powers as to the purpose for which they were intended; that they were gradually brought to our Southern coast, until there were several flotillas in those waters preparatory to the intended attack upon Cuba, so that but for the transpiring of some event, possibly the approach of hostilities with England, growing out of the orders in Council, and impressment of our own seamen upon the high seas, and the "Chesapeake affair," the scheme of Mr. JEFFERSON for the acquisition of Cuba would have been carried out, and Cuba have been ours.

In concluding this long communication to one whose heart, ever warm to the honor and interests of a country he has so long, so ably and so successfully served, no apology is necessary. I but submit it, asking permission to make public such facts as you may think of any importance (to history) in your reply.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

Signed, L. KEARNY.

BONDENTOWN, N. J., March 3, 1859.

Capt. Lawrence Kearney, U. S. N.:

DEAR SIR: I have just received your telegraph of yesterday, preceded by one from Mr. CRABBE and Capt. ENGLE on the same subject. I have not received your letter of Friday last, but presume it is on the way. You probably allude to a letter you wrote me dated Feb. 22, ult., making inquiry in relation to President JEFFERSON and his gunboats. To this letter I could not immediately reply from disability of my right arm from a boil. I am now able to use it again, and I answer you, my old and sterling friend, as to our "little navy" thus: What you say you heard me relate on that subject is correct, and the history of the thing is this: In our attack upon Tripoli in 1804, under Commodore PREBLE, we had the use of six gunboats loaned to our service by the King of the Two Sicilies, their construction, however, being designed only for the defence of Naples Bay, and the islands therein; they were clumsy, inactive vessels, bad to sail, bad to row, and bad for our small vessels to tow in a high wind and rough sea, but when once got under their batteries for action they proved most efficient and powerful auxiliaries against permanent works of opposition, and being small themselves as an object to fire at, at the point blank range of a 24-pounder, they are hard to hit; at a little shorter or longer distance, all firing at them become random firing. Now for the attack of ships under a breeze in bottomless places, or where a ship could get anchorage and springs on her cables, they were almost useless; but where a ship became a fixed object, by calms or grounding, they were then most efficient for cutting them to pieces, and compelling a surrender.

Commodore PREBLE wrote strongly to the Government of the United States to send him a dozen of them, of such construction as would enable them to navigate the Atlantic and Mediterranean seas in safety, and capable of being moved with facility with wind or oars; this was done, and the first twelve were constructed and sent out. One only was lost out of that number, and they would have proved all that could be wished, had they been used at Tripoli.

The appropriations for the gun-boats built afterwards was obtained from Congress, under the pretext of harbor defences; at that time (1806) one hundred and eighty boats were built and building. I have seen since in Mr. JEFFERSON's first published letters, that as war was at that time almost inevitable with Spain, he had intended them especially for an attack on the island of Cuba, as the most efficient means of blockading all their outports, and for the attack of their protecting batteries. I presumed at that time the intended war against Spain grew out of our extensive claims on that country, for our deprivation of the right of deposit at New-Orleans, granted by Spain in 1795 in perpetuity to the interior commerce of the United States. I well recollect that in consequence of Mr. JEFFERSON having in his message to Congress, at the session of December, 1805, recommended something like a war on Spain, which he at the same time counteracted through "a back door message," (as Mr. RANDOLPH termed it), and which caused Mr. RANDOLPH's deserting him, and making a violent opposition speech against him and his double policy. RANDOLPH was then, I think, Chairman of the Committee of Finance in the then Congress. The letter I refer to I may have seen among the correspondence Mr. JEFFERSON had with Mr. MAZZEI, of Leghorn, who put into my hands all the letters of Mr. JEFFERSON, addressed to him after our Revolutionary war had terminated, up to 1807. I was then spending three months in Pisa-on-the Arno, while my vessel—the Hibernia—in which I was then engaged on a voyage to Calcutta, was collecting her funds in Spanish dollars, and selling her cargo from Philadelphia. It was amongst those letters of Mr. JEFFERSON that I saw his reasons for not entering into the views of the Emperor PAUL of Russia, who, when about to make peace with the Sultan of Turkey, proposed to Mr. JEFFERSON to insert in the treaty an article to open to the flag of the United States the commerce of Turkey in Europe, and that of the shores of the Black Sea, provided the United States would accredit a minister to and from the Empire of Turkey, and that of Russia. It struck me forcibly at that time that Mr. JEFFERSON lost a valuable "hand-maid to agriculture and manufactures," as well as strong friends, in those two powers, for the promotion of our relations with those of Tunis, Tripoli and Algiers.

You see I have given you a "Roland for your Oliver." Truly yours, C. L. STEWART.

Detention of the New United States Minister to Mexico—Accident to the Steamer Tennessee.

NEW-ORLEANS, Sunday, March 20, 1859.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Mr. MCLANE, the newly-appointed Minister to Mexico, with other passengers bound for Vera Cruz per steamship Tennessee, returned to this city to-day. That steamer sailed Wednesday morning, 16th inst., at 8 o'clock, and at 3 P. M. on that day ran aground in attempting to go through the Pass à l'Outre, at the mouth of the river. The main channel was blocked up by ships with steam-tugs, endeavoring to work them out, and this, with a violent norther prevailing at the time, rendered it very difficult for the Tennessee to get through. She continued her efforts until the next morning, when the gale became perfectly furious, and drove a ship, with a steam-tug attached, down upon the starboard quarter of the steamer, and as they rounded her stern, rending and crashing light upper-works, the steamer's rudder was so badly damaged as to render her unfit to go to sea.

Every effort was made to get the Tennessee off, that she might return to the city for repairs; but not succeeding in this, Capt. FORBES placed his passengers on board the steamer Suwanee, bound in from Florida, and they are now here, awaiting the Tennessee, or perhaps some other steamer, which may be speedily dispatched in her place.

This accident is particularly unfortunate at the present moment, for it is a peculiarly critical period in our relations with Mexico, and the prompt arrival of Mr. MCLANE is of immense importance. The friends of the Liberal Party, it cannot be denied, are rendered doubly anxious by reason of his detention. So far as the new Minister is known, the impression as to what he can and will do is quite favorable. He is of good stock, and of far higher grade in every qualification than the majority of our foreign appointments. He is doubtless fully impressed with the magnitude of his duties, and if the influence of private speculators was brought to bear upon him on his departure from Washington, there is every reason to believe that in Mexico he will cut loose from them all, devote himself to the great interests of his country, and do himself imperishable honor.

The filling up of the main passes at the mouth of the Mississippi is seriously affecting this port. At the Southwest Pass, which is the principal one, the main channel is so entirely blocked up by vessels, some of which have been there ninety days, that no pilot will attempt to exercise his profession there among new comers. It is estimated that over 100,000 bales of cotton are now aground at the mouth of the river, against most of which bills have been drawn, and which will be protested or paid before the cargoes leave their present muddy bed.

Appropriations by Congress, no matter how large, do not appear to remove the obstructions to navigation, but only serve to keep the political wheel in motion. Some show of work is made, but the principal amounts go into the maws of voracious politicians. It is believed that a good dredging machine, kept at work in one of the main channels, and for which each vessel drawing over a certain number of feet should pay a small toll as she passes through, would be the most effectual and economical plan. The steam-tug tax is now enormous, and Northern ship-owners have a great interest in the matter.

Business continues exceedingly active. An immense amount of produce is received and shipped.

DE SOTO.

The Kansas Gold Mines.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I read in the TIMES of the 25th of March an article headed "How to Get to Pike's Peak," professing to give, through your valuable yournal, "reliable" information regarding the most practicable routes to the Pike's Peak gold mines.

I have passed over, on horseback and afoot, every route leading from the Missouri River westward and to the south and southwest, and most of the country lying between that stream and the Rocky Mountains, and I know, as do all prairie men, officers of the Army and others, that the Republican Fork route is, by all odds, the best route that emigrants can take to these gold regions; and no one who is disposed to act fairly with those going out can give them any other advice. This route starts from Fort Leavenworth, passes Fort Riley, and continues on to Bridger's Pass. It was surveyed and laid out by Lieut. BRYAN, of the United States Topographical Engineers, who was assisted by BRIDGER and other prairie men whose knowledge of that country is not surpassed. It has, since 1856, been known as the best route, more direct, and possessing advantages of wood, water and grass (the great requisites) over any and all other routes.

It no doubt appears strange to the uninitiated and those who know nothing of that region, that so great a diversity of opinion should prevail as to the best route for emigrants to take. Yet, they will recollect that Kansas City and St. Josephs, in Missouri; Leavenworth, in Kansas Territory; and Nebraska City, in the Territory of that name, are all new and rival towns, and each one is striving to reap the benefits to flow from this emigration, and therefore publish statements to mislead the unwary.

My reason for addressing you this communication is, that during the Summers of 1849, '50 and '51 I was a witness to the rascality practiced on California emigrants, and the scenes of suffering beggars all description. It is, therefore, a duty to undeceive those impressed by statements made by interested parties.

Address to the Neapolitan Exiles.

The following address has been forwarded to the Neapolitan exiles on their arrival in England:

BROTHERS: During the last month we have been expecting your arrival day by day, anxious to testify by hearty welcome the affection and reverence that we feel for your sublime fortitude, your heroic suffering in behalf of liberty in our common fatherland. Not we alone! For this free and powerful people of America, ever foremost in noble sentiments, was preparing by the thousand voices of its Press—by those practical measures which it knows how to use in order to express a great idea—a reception worthy of itself and of you; thus proving the moral solidarity of a free people with the martyrs of freedom. You have chosen Great Britain as your harbor of refuge, in order that the least possible distance may divide you from our beloved Italy, which, thrilling with the desire and the will to achieve her own redemption, has need of the toils and counsels of her best ones. Accept, then, our joyful congratulations which we send across the ocean: our friends in England will have hastened in our stead to grasp your hands, and to assure you of the love and admiration that every true Italian feels for you. In common with them and with the Italian people we share the faith and efforts that can alone create a country mistress of her own destinies. Setting aside all questions as to forms of government, we desire to see the banner of Italian right, of national sovereignty unfurled—to see it triumph against every foreigner from Sicily to the Alps. Around this banner every Italian patriot can rally, sure that the struggle will not cease until the last foreign soldier shall have repassed our frontiers.

We trust at no distant day to grasp your hands under this same banner—green, white and red—on our native soil.

A Curious Divorce Case—A Christian and a Jew Ill-Mated.

A curious divorce case is pending in the California Courts. Mrs. CAROLINE H. WAND sues for a divorce from her husband, on the ground that he is a Jew, and has endeavored to bring up her child in the Jewish faith, and, also that he has been guilty of cruelty towards her. The lady's complaint sets forth that she was married to DAVID WAND, her husband, the defendant, on Oct. 13, 1849, in Cortlandt County, N. Y., by the Rev. Mr. BLISS, a minister of the Christian faith, in which faith she had been baptized in infancy; and that in the Fall of the year 1850 she had by her husband a daughter, named ARMENIA, the only issue of their marriage, who is yet living. Some time after the birth of their child, she, for the first time, discovered that her husband was a Jew or Hebrew.

In 1852, or thereabouts, her husband emigrated to California, and she was induced to follow him, in the year 1856, since which time they have both resided in that State. Their difference of religion has been a source of trouble, and she has ever refused to subscribe to the faith he professes. During their marriage her husband has treated her with extreme cruelty, particularly on or about the 8th day of December last, when, amongst other things, he wickedly and unlawfully placed a pistol against her breast, and shot, or attempted to shoot or murder her, at which time h[illegible] kill her, and th[illegible] he fears that he will either kill her or do her bodily harm.

Plaintiff shows that said daughter is only eight years old at her last birthday, for whom she bears a fond, motherly affection, which is reciprocated; her said child has been instructed in the Christian faith and is attached to the Christian religion; that she has reason to believe, that her said husband is resolved to bring her said child up according to the rites of the Hebrew Church, which she is greatly opposed to; that he has recently endeavored to teach her to disobey the commands of plaintiff touching her conduct; she shows that her said husband is not by temper or otherwise qualified to rear and educate said child.

Mr. WAND, it appears, recently made an attempt to commit suicide.

THE HABITS OF THE "WANDERER" NEGROES.—A correspondent of the Southern Recorder, writing from Jacksonville, Ga., gives the following account of the "wandering Africans" that were recently in duress, for some days, at that place: "The most of these negroes are very likely, and are from six to twenty-one years old; there is only one woman among them. They seem perfectly happy, and are as contented and free from care as if roaming their native wilds. They remain in jail only at night; during the day they are permitted the freedom of the yard. Some of them are quite smart, and all are quick to learn. At first, they could not speak a word of English; several of them, since they have been here, have mastered many words. Money and whisky are favorite words with them—all love money, and all appear to love whisky. They seem to have a knowledge of the value of coin, but none of our paper currency. I gave one an order for something at a store, since which time all scraps of paper are in great demand with them. A newspaper was torn into small pieces and carefully put away, they thinking it will answer the same purpose as money. Their dances and sports are very amusing and original. Most of the older ones are quite ingenious, making knives and other things out of iron hoops and sardine boxes. They are very fond of fine dress, and some of the boys of the place have put gay ribbons through the holes in their ears, which makes them quite proud. I don't think they have an idea of God. I have taken some pains to find out their belief in a Supreme Being, but have failed. They are from three different nations or tribes, there being three different marks or tattoos among them, indicating, as they say, different nations, or, perhaps as more reasonable, different castes. They soon learned some profane words, but being told it was wrong to use them, it is seldom they will do so, saying marbe, bad, when asked to repeat them.

THE WESTERN WAGON-ROAD EXPEDITIONS.—The Washington Union says: "Lieut. JOHN MULLAN recently left this city to commence the construction of the wagon-road from Fort Benton, on the Missouri, to Fort Walla Walla, on the Columbia River. He will be assisted by A. M. ENGEL and T. H. KOLECKI, Topographers; C. HOWARD, Civil Engineer; G. C. TALIAFERRO, JOHN A. SMITH, W. JOHNSTON, and Dr. J. A. MULLAN, Assistants; and C. SPANGLER, Wagon Master. The Superintendent of the Fort Kearney, South Pass and Honey Lake wagon-road, Col. F. W. LANDER, will leave this city on Monday, March 28, for St. Joseph, Missouri, where he will start to resume his work on the road on the 20th of April. He will also go out as a special agent of the Government to several Indian tribes on the line of the road. His company will comprise Mr. WM. WAGNER, principal Assistant-Engineer; Messrs. R. L. POOR, M. LONG, JAS. A. SNYDER and JOHN R. KEY, Assistants; Mr. F. B. BURCH, Wagon Master. Mr. J. H. INGLE, former disbursing agent for the Company, will accompany the Expedition as far as St. Joseph."

MONDAY, March 28—P. M.

The Weekly Averages of the Banks of the City of New-York, on Saturday, March 26, 1859, present in the aggregate the following changes from the previous exhibit of March 19:

Increase in Loans	$163,282
Increase in Specie	139 444
Increase in Circulation	1,385
Decrease in Undrawn Deposits	98 544

Including the Clearing-House operations of the week, which show the interexchanges between the Banks, and including also the Sub-Treasury statement of Saturday, the following is the general comparison with the previous exhibit, and also with the movement this time last season:

COMPARATIVE RECAPITULATION.

	March 27, 1858.	March 26, 1859.	March 19, 1859.
Capital	$66,600,000	$68,048 385	$68,048,385
Loans	109,095,412	127,751,225	127,587,943
Specie	30,929,472	25,182,627	25,043,183
Circulation	6,892,231	7,998,098	7,996,713
Gross Deposits	90,244,098	106,580,370	108,353,336
Exchanged	16,442,389	20,237,121	21,911,543
Undrawn	74,201,709	86,343 249	86,441,793
In Sub-Treasury	6,141,594	8,045,268	9,016,759

The Bank Averages show a very steady movement. The addition to the Specie line is moderate, as we anticipated in our weekly review, from the circumstance that the previous average was rather a falling one, while the Sub-Treasury disbursement of $800,000 was not fully counted until near the close of the present statement. We looked for a more important addition to the Discount line and also some change in favor of the Deposit line. The Banks start in the new week with a rising Specie average, and the export demand is likely to be more than covered by the California remittance of March 5, which should be here by Wednesday. Some delay has occurred by the change of steamers at Havana. The market for Money to-day shows rather increased ease in the supply offered by lenders on temporary employment; the rates from 4 to 5 ₽ cent. There is no change in Discounts. The leading Grocery houses who offer to cash their own bills are unable to get an allowance of more than 6 ₽ cent. ₽ annum. Owing to the ease in Money and a fair demand for bills from the Import trade, Exchange is held steady to-day for the Cunard steamer sailing on Wednesday at 109⅝@109¾ on London for bank and bankers' bills. Francs f.5.13¾@f.5.12½.

There is a little more animation on the Stock Exchange to-day, and some excitement on several descriptions. The Bulls have their own way in Reading, which went at one moment to 51¼ ₽ cent. cash to make good the deliveries of the day, and closed at the Second Board 50¼@50½ ₽ cent., as against 49⅞ on Saturday afternoon. The same party were large buyers of Hudson River shares, and to at least a partial extent have the public with them in their confidence of the future of the Road. The sales were quite heavy in amount, and the stock closed about 32⅛@32¼ ₽ cent. The mortgages of the Company are also quite firm. The Bear account had the advantage on Michigan Southern Guaranteed, the sellers were numerous, and the cause assigned is that the annual report, though confessedly a frank and improving one, so far as comparative management is concerned, shows no surplus for the Preference shares up to 1st January last. This issue upon the merits of the report is likely, from the sales of the day, to render the Guaranteed Stock one of the most active speculatives on the list. Indeed the short contracts were previously quite heavy. The other Western shares were steady through the day, and manifested more firmness at the close. The sales of Galena, Rock Island and Toledo appear to have been pressed to the minimum rates for the present. Harlem Preferred advanced to 40, and Pacific Mail to 79 ₽ cent., an advance of ½ ₽ cent. on each over the top sales of Saturday. Illinois Central shares advanced 1 ₽ cent., closing 68, and the Construction Bonds to 91½ ₽ cent. The contest against New-York Central was less animated, or at least less effective. The cash stock closed as on Saturday at 78⅝@79 ₽ cent., and 78⅞@⅞ on seller's option. The State Stocks were all firm and the New Federal Loan steady at 104¼ ₽ cent sales. The Albany correspondent of the Courier reports that the Senate Bank Committee will report against changing the rate at which the 5 ₽ cents are taken for circulation at the Bank Department. The general market left off irregular in prices; a disposition to firmness in some descriptions, and of dullness in others.

The Sub-Treasury received to-day $118,182, of which $79,000 from Customs, and paid out $180,762. Balance this afternoon, $7,982,688.

We have received the following additional figures and explanations of the Annual Report of the Michigan Southern Company to 31st December, 1858:

Capital Stock—Common.....$6,081,800
Guaranteed.....2,893,600—$8,975,400
Funded Debt.....9,343,000
Floating debt, Nov. 1857.....$2,314,000
Floating debt, Jan. 1, 1858.....1,934,000
Floating debt, March 1, 1859.....1,211,007

	1857.	1858.
Earnings	$2,227,978	$2,019,424
Expenses	1,652,299	1,332,151
Repairs of road	423,825	315,153
Repairs of engines	158,793	97,443
Repairs of cars	147,098	69,855
Fuel	164,000	108,433
Passengers carried	534,550	402,929
Tons of freight	234,804	261,813
Passenger earnings	1,316,478	920,366
Freight earnings	838,053	847,102
Per cent. expenses	74	61—61½

Pay-rolls.	No. Men.	Pay-rolls.
1857—October	3,249	$95,150 92
1858—January	1,725	52,842 01
1858—December	1,516	51,477 73
1859—February	1,506	46,402 40

A reference to this last table will show that the decrease of business upon our road cannot be ascribed to the competition of other lines by drawing off business legitimately belonging to ours. For it appears by this table that the gross earnings of all of the ten large roads named have materially decreased during 1858. The per centage of decrease of the aggregate of gross earnings of those roads is 25.75, while upon ours the decrease is only 9.36 ₽ cent., and it will be noted that our decrease in expenses is 25 ₽ cent.

If the gross earnings of 1858 were equal to those of 1856, which were.....$2,714,848 with the expenses and int. acc't. of 1858, at.....2,018,133
there would have been a net surplus of.....$696,715
This would give 10 ₽ cent. on $2,893,600 of guaranteed stock.....289,360 and 6 ₽ cent. on $6,081,800 common, $864,908—354,268 and leave a surplus of.....$42,447

a clear evidence that a revival of business only is necessary to enable the Company to increase dividends. As an earnest that such a revival has commenced, a reference to schedule I annexed shows that the gross earnings of the first half of 1858 were.....$ 932 929 46 and for the last half.....1,082,819 97
a gain in favor of the last 6 months of.....$147,890 51

The constant increase of the local or way business in comparison with the through, is a gratifying feature in the traffic of the road. This is a business which cannot materially be interfered with by any efforts of competing roads. The earnings are comparatively as follows:

	Through Traffic.	Way Traffic.
1857	$1,219,292 34	$474,292 75
1858	838,109 01	1,006,792 72
Decrease	$381,184 33	Inc....$532,499 97

This shows the capacity of the country along and within the influence of our lines, to expand and enlarge. And it is worthy of note, that this expansion and increase of local traffic have gone regularly forward the last year amidst the general depression of business and the comparative decrease of earnings from through traffic.

The Milwaukee and Mississippi Shares have suddenly gone down to $5@$6 on representation that the Company are unable to provide for an Income Debt of $448,000 due the 1st of April, and that no further issue of mortgages will be made unless the stockholders come forward to the relief of the finances of the Road. The first result is not all unexpected. The other announcement, accompanied by an exceedingly Flemish account of the prospects of the Company, appears to have been put forth with the view to frighten the Eastern shareholders into some sort of advances to save the property from foreclosure. Beyond the circumstance that the alarm is sounded from the seat of the La Crosse iniquity, we know of nothing to induce the belief that the stock of the Milwaukee and Mississippi is really to be confiscated. The line is a finished one and equipped, from Milwaukee to Prairie du Chien, on the Mississippi River, two hundred and thirty-five miles, including the Janesville branch. The first mortgage, less the Sinking Fund, now stands $2,325,500, and the Second $600,000. Other liabilities $934,000, including the Income Debt referred to above. The whole but little over one half the cost of the work, the Capital Stock being $3,696,000.
